LETTER OF ALEXANDER BARABASH

Your Honor:

I was born in Kyiv, Ukraine. My father was determined to move to the United States to provide a brighter future for his children. It was a five-year process and finally in the Spring of 1979 through his persistence and determination, we were able to leave. My father, mother, sister, my father's parents, and I embarked on a 5-month journey with one suitcase per person, barely any money, and no one spoke English.

I took an aptitude test and skipped third grade. With the aid of several amazing organizations, I was able to attend private school. Once my parents began working, they had to pay for my education, but that initial generosity will never be forgotten.

My parents ingrained in my sister and me, no matter what you become in life always be humble and kind. They were not able to offer us any luxuries, however, ours was a home filled with love, respect, rules, and responsibilities.

Just like my father, I worked my entire life starting at the age of fifteen. I applied to several universities after graduating high school and when the letters arrived in the mail, my excitement was short-lived because after I opened each letter, I knew my parents could not afford to send me to college.

I began working and saving, saving so that I could give myself the opportunity to expand my education. In 1997, I began a remodeling company installing kitchens, trimming carpentry, etc. I was determined to learn everything about this trade and the entire business of constructing and renovating residential structures. Ten years later in 2007, I applied for and received my contractor's license. I held that license with an unblemished record for fifteen years. Over the course of the next ten years, I became a specialist in the renovation of historic 100+ year-old homes and served the communities of Guilford, Ruxton, Roland Park, Homeland, Hampden, etc.

Twelve-hour days, six days a week, my vision was clear; be the best at what you do, always do what you say you are going to do, continue to grow the company, focus on being client-centric, and most importantly show my parents gratitude for giving me the opportunity and have them be proud of my achievement. After years of grueling work, my company, iDesignBuild won five major awards between 2021 and 2023 including the coveted Best of Houzz two years in a row, an accolade only awarded to 3% of builders in the world.

I worked half of my life to build something to be proud of only to see everything cut down. I made a terrible mistake that I sincerely apologize for, a mistake that I take full accountability for, a mistake I have been paying dearly for every day for almost two years now.

As a young person temptation and peer pressure were everywhere but I was not seduced. I never got in any trouble as a teenager. Did not get a tattoo, never took up smoking, stayed away from drugs, Never owned weapons of any kind including guns. Never hunted anything. Never engage with any groups of extreme beliefs nor spend time with people from the wrong side of the tracks.

I devoted 25+ years to my career, holding one position, at one company. I have banked with the same financial institution, M&T Bank, since about 2006.

I am now in an amazing relationship with my fiancé Mariia. The pandemic, then the Russia-Ukraine war conflict has prevented me to meet my fiancé's parents so that I can properly ask her father for permission to marry his daughter. For the past fifteen months, we have worked tirelessly through a complicated red tape-filled maze resulting in her parents' visas finally being approved, and they will arrive in the United States on June 22, 2023.

We are ready to start a family and pass down the multitude of amazing characteristics that our wonderful parents gave to us.

I lost both of my Great Danes to cancer; one in 2019 and one in 2010. We are now raising two other Harlequin Great Danes, who are about to turn one year of age, and they are the center of our Universe.

I take full accountability, and I apologize for my actions. I had a normal life before the pandemic; committed to my career, went out to dinner, met with my family for lunch almost every Sunday, and now my entire world has turned inside out. I was scared, scared for my business, scared for the wonderful people that worked for and with me. Never would I have been in this situation had this pandemic never occurred, but I stand by my word of full accountability.

Now, I am ashamed because so many people are counting on me, and I am letting them all down. I am scared to be introduced to a world I know nothing about and people that I have never interacted with in my entire life.

Your Honor, I beg for your consideration to look at the person standing before you and see a lifetime of reaching for achievement and a determined commitment to doing the right things rather than one extremely bad judgment call during a dark period of our lifetime.

Sincerely

Alexander Barabash
