We here at Crowther Roofing & Sheet Metal were shocked and disappointed to read of the Federal allegations against Casey Crowther. Casey Crowther is the grandchild of our founder, Lee J. Crowther, but is not employed by, nor connected in any way with, Crowther Roofing & Sheet Metal.

Crowther Roofing & Sheet Metal is a fifth-generation, family-owned roofing company. Crowther Roofing & Sheet Metal has operated in Southwest Florida for 45 years. We did not apply for nor receive any Federal PPP funds. Crowther Roofing & Sheet Metal has no connection with Target Roofing, the company owned and operated by Casey Crowther.

Look, up in the sky: High Point Place in Fort Myers gets a new roof

The roof of High Point Place in downtown Fort Myers is being replaced after it was damaged by Hurricane Irma in 2017. The tallest of five buildings stand at 32 stories high and are the tallest buildings between Miami and Tampa.
