Re: Target Roofing and Sheet Metal, Inc

September 10, 2020

To Whom It May Concern,

Target Roofing and Sheet Metal continues to be a robust, responsive, and resilient organization. This letter is written to assure your associations that we are still fully operational, that our accounts are in good standing, and that our vendors are and will continue to provide us to provide all the necessary materials for this project and projects into our future.

Casey Crowther will continue to be part of our leadership team along with Brad North, Scott Ewens, and Rast Bryant who together bring decades of roofing industry experience. Each one is highly qualified in stepping in at any time to manage the company's day-to-day operations.

If Casey Crowther's Roofing Contractor License becomes inactive, Target Roofing, will continue to meet any roofing licensed qualifications with Steve Adkin's (CCC1332242) current and active roofing license.

The company's upcoming and currently scheduled projects are all on-course and will continue as planned.

Target Roofing is confident the truth will come to light when we have our day in court, it is unfortunate we can't tell our story today. Our company and employees have served our community since 2015 with a promise of quality service and roof installations that we deliver on every day 24/7. We are confident that our company will continue in that tradition today and into the future along with its 160+ talented employees—that we consider family.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads 'Rast Bryant'. The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.
