I got your voicemail and am working on getting you the things you need. I do not have access to a computer or my files right now.

The company is shut down mostly so having them send it to me is difficult.

I can send you a photo of the documentation and will scan it as soon as I can gain access to my office.

My life is in shambles right now. Dealing with this, the mental side of this, the physical side of this, a soon to be ex-wife, not having a place to live, the business being shut down, and no income.
