ALICIA MARSHALL, DANIEL PRONSKY, PARIS TOWNSEND, NANCILEE HOLLAND, LEONA OWSLEY, KOLAWOLE AHMADOU, KIANA DERVIN, KRISTINA HENDERSON, DUSTIN INNIS, KELLY STALNAKER, JAMIE JONES, GEORGINA DREVNAK, JOHN MARTIN, EZRA BEATTIE, GREGORY LLOYD, ALYSHIA JOHNSON, LAMETRIA MARVEL, GUY GRICHAR, JAHBRAEL HORNE, ENOBONG ETUKNWA, and SHARON BRADLEY SMITH, individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated,

Plaintiffs,

v.

PRESTAMOS CDFI, LLC and CHICANOS POR LA CAUSA, INC.,

Defendants.

Civil Action No. 5:21-cv-04337-JMG

THIRD AMENDED CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

Plaintiffs Alicia Marshall, Daniel Pronsky, Paris Townsend, Nancilee Holland, Leona Owsley, Kolawole Ahmadou, Kiana Dervin, Kristina Henderson, Dustin Innis, Kelly Stalnak, Jamie Jones, Georgina Drevnak, John Martin, Ezra Beattie, Gregory Lloyd, Alyshia Johnson, Lametria Marvel, Guy Grichar, Jahbrael Horne, Enobong Etuknwa and Sharon Bradley Smith (collectively, “Plaintiffs”), individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated, file this Third Amended Class Action Complaint and Jury Demand for damages and equitable relief against defendant Prestamos CDFI, LLC (“Prestamos”) and Chicanos Por La Causa, Inc. (“CPLC”) (collectively, “Defendants”) for their respective role in failing to fund approved Paycheck Protection Program (“PPP” or the “Program”) loans. In support, Plaintiffs make the following allegations based upon information and belief except as to the allegations pertaining to the Plaintiffs which are based on personal knowledge. Plaintiffs' information and belief is based, among other things, on the ongoing investigation of their undersigned counsel which included, without limitation, a review of applicable documents, publicly-available information concerning the PPP and PPP loans, discovery in this litigation which remains ongoing and media and other information, including information available on the Internet. Plaintiffs believe that substantial additional evidentiary support will exist for their allegations after additional discovery pursuant to the discovery and other deadlines set by the Court. In addition, by Order on December 5, 2023 (ECF No. 93), the Court granted CPLC's motion to dismiss on grounds of personal jurisdiction. Plaintiffs accordingly include CPLC as a defendant in this amended complaint to the extent relevant to Plaintiffs' claims against defendant Prestamos, and to preserve Plaintiffs' rights in the event of an appeal.

Summary of the Claims

1. Following the worldwide outbreak of COVID-19, Congress passed the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act ("CARES Act") to, among many other things, provide some relief to America's small businesses and sole proprietors through the creation of the PPP.

2. Administered by the United States Small Business Administration ("SBA"), the PPP was established to provide hundreds of billions of dollars of potentially forgivable loans to small businesses and sole proprietors in a quick and efficient manner using a standard form note and accompanying loan agreement documents that Plaintiffs and other PPP borrowers entered into with Prestamos.

3. To ensure that small businesses and sole proprietors received PPP loan proceeds quickly, the applicable provisions of the PPP required lenders to timely fund PPP loans following SBA approval of the loan.

4. Lenders that participated in the Program were entitled to fees payable by the SBA for each PPP loan the lenders processed.

5. Defendant Prestamos was one of the SBA's authorized PPP lenders.

6. In 2020, Prestamos processed 935 PPP loans totaling less than $27 million gross, thereby reportedly receiving $1.3 million in fees.

7. Defendant Prestamos is and during all times relevant was wholly owned by its corporate parent, CPLC. CPLC at all times relevant controlled and dominated defendant Prestamos and Prestamos's PPP lending; shared certain of the same senior executives and directors; had a website that referred to and promoted Prestamos; publicly held out the companies as one and the same and repeatedly referred to them as "CPLC Prestamos" in CPLC's Fiscal Year 2019-2020 Annual Report "A Chance to Change the World." See CPLC FY19-20, Annual Report, at 7, available at <https://cplc.org/assets/files/publications/CPLC%20FY19-20%20Annual-Report.pdf> (last visited May 1, 2022)) ("During the pandemic, CPLC Prestamos is administering Paycheck Protection (PPP) loans to help small businesses keep their doors open.") (emphasis added); reported on CPLC's own financial statements that it received hundreds of millions of dollars in PPP loan processing fees; and is headquartered in a building that is virtually adjacent to Prestamos's headquarters. See <https://cplc.org/> (CPLC located at 1112 E. Buckeye Road, Phoenix, AZ); <https://www.prestamosloans.org/phoenix/> (Prestamos located at 1024 E. Buckeye Road, Phoenix, AZ). In addition, CPLC is represented by the same two law firms that represents Prestamos in this litigation.

8. In 2021, after the SBA substantially increased the fees lenders would receive for PPP loans made in 2021, CPLC caused Prestamos to exploit that increased fee opportunity by dramatically ramping up its participation in PPP lending. Defendants were hugely successful in that respect.

9. In particular, in 2021 alone, Prestamos exponentially expanded its PPP lending, reportedly processing 494,415 PPP loans totaling over $7.6 billion through May 31, 2021 -- more PPP loans than any other lender in 2021, and more than the total number of PPP loans made in 2021 by Bank of America, PNC Bank, TD Bank and Wells Fargo combined. See Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) Report: Approvals through 05/31/2021, at 7, available at Paycheck Protection Program \(PPP\) Report: Approvals through 05/31/2021 \(sba.gov\) (last visited Sept. 21, 2021).

10. As a result, Prestamos reportedly received nearly $1.2 billion in fees in 2021. See Stacy Crowley & Ella Koeze, How Two Start-Ups Reaped Billions in Fees on Small Business Relief Loans, N.Y. Times, June 27, 2021, Updated Oct. 11, 2021, available at <https://www.nytimes.com/2021/06/27/business/ppp-relief-loans-blueacorn-womply.html> (last visited May 1, 2022). Prestamos also reportedly shared certain of those fees with its lender service provider Blueacorn, but still obtained on a net basis hundreds of millions of dollars from those fees.

11. Although Prestamos and not CPLC was the SBA-approved PPP lender, CPLC and its senior personnel also participated in, and controlled and directed Prestamos' PPP lending and was the alter ego of Prestamos. Thus, Prestamos upstreamed all or the bulk of its PPP lender processing fees directly to CPLC and CPLC, in turn, booked and disclosed at least some portion of those fees in CPLC's own financial statements.

12. In particular, according to CPLC’s own Consolidated Financial Statements and Supplementary Information for the year ended June 30, 2021 (the “Financial Statements”), “[f]or each approved PPP loan, the Small Business Administration (SBA) covered a percentage of the loan principal balance as a loan processing fee to the organization. The fee is amortized through the term of each PPP loan. As of June 30, 2021, the Organization received $314,260,826 from SBA, $5,086,196 was recognized as loan fee revenue and $309,174,630 was recorded as deferred revenue.” See ProPublica, Chicanos Por La Causa Inc., Consolidated Financial Statements, p.20 Year Ended June 30, 2021, available at https://projects.propublica.org/nonprofits/display_audit/11175820211 (last visited May 2, 2022) (emphasis added).

13. In flagrant disregard of its contractual loan agreement obligations to Plaintiffs and other class member borrowers, however, Prestamos failed to actually fund class member borrowers’ SBA-approved PPP loans.

14. Plaintiffs and thousands of other business owners each timely applied for PPP loans with Prestamos, had their loans approved by the SBA and assigned PPP loan numbers, completed and submitted all information concerning their PPP loans, and yet never were paid their PPP loan funds by Prestamos although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it disbursed those loan proceeds to these borrowers in order to collect the loan processing fee from the SBA.

On or about October 6, 2023, which was just a week before CPLC filed its motion to dismiss on October 13, 2023 and accompanying papers (ECF Nos. 84-85), Adame “resigned from his position of President and Chief Executive Officer” of CPLC amid allegations of financial malfeasance. See <https://www.cplc.org/blog/viewpost.php?id=1162> (last visited Oct. 24, 2023); Arizona Independent, Allegations of Fraud Haunt Chicanos Por La Causa As Adame Exits (Oct. 5, 2023) (“While the organization released a statement claiming that Adame left to ‘pursue other opportunities,’ sources say allegations of financial malfeasance preceded his exit.”), available at <https://arizonadailyindependent.com/2023/10/05/allegations-of-fraud-haunt-chicanos-por-lacausa-as-adame-exits/> (last visited Oct. 24, 2023).

39. Adame was succeeded as President and CEO of CPLC by Alicia Nunez (“Nunez”), who was then appointed CPLC’s interim President and CEO, and formerly and at all times relevant to Prestamos’ PPP lending served as CPLC’s Executive Vice President and CFO.

On or about April 24, 2024, Nunez was appointed CPLC's President and CEO.

Jurisdiction & Venue

40. This Court has jurisdiction under the Class Action Fairness Act because at least one member of the proposed class is a citizen of a different state than defendants Prestamos and CPLC; there are more than 100 members of the proposed classes; and the aggregate amount in controversy exceeds $5,000,000.00 exclusive of interest and costs. See 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2)(A).

41. This Court also has jurisdiction over defendant Prestamos because Prestamos had substantial and direct contacts in this District by virtue of its agreement to fund plaintiff Pronskey's PPP loan; by entering into PPP loan agreements with numerous other PPP borrowers in this District; by committing to fund the PPP loans under the contractual loan agreements it entered into with plaintiff Pronskey and numerous other PPP borrowers in this District; by its PPP loan underwriting and review activities in connection with the PPP loans of borrowers in this District; by obtaining PPP loan processing fees on PPP loans committed to borrowers in this District; and by virtue of its communications and activities it undertook in this District and concerning PPP applicants and borrowers in this District relating to PPP loans, PPP loan forgiveness, interest on PPP loans and PPP loan processing fees. See SBA, Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) Report, Approvals through 5/31/2021, p. 7, available at https://www.sba.gov/sites/default/files/2021-06/PPP_Report_Public_210531-508.pdf (last visited May 1, 2022). Further, this case was filed on October 1, 2021 and, despite lodging numerous other challenges, defendant Prestamos has not challenged personal jurisdiction and is estopped from doing so now.

42. More particularly, and for further detail, defendant Prestamos committed to fund at least 10,553 separate SBA-approved PPP loans through May 31, 2021 for qualified borrowers residing in this District alone, for total PPP loan proceeds of at least $166 million according to the SBA's own publicly available PPP loan data. See SBA, PPP FOIA, available at <https://data.sba.gov/dataset/ppp-foia> (last visited May 1, 2022).

43. Assuming that each such loan PPP loan generated loan processing fees of at least $2,500.00 per loan, this means that defendant Prestamos obtained at least $26,382,500.00 in total PPP loan fees on the backs of resident business owners located in this District (10,533 x $2,500.00).

44. In connection with each of the numerous PPP loan agreements and millions of dollars in lender processing fees with borrowers in this District, defendant Prestamos purposefully availed itself of substantial and direct business activity in this District sufficient to subject itself to the personal jurisdiction of this Court.

45. Further, for each such PPP loan, defendant Prestamos's role was not limited to entering into the standard form loan agreement contracts and funding the loans for Plaintiffs and other putative class member borrowers. In addition, Prestamos's role as the SBA-approved lender of PPP loans required it to underwrite and review each PPP loan individually. According to applicable regulations:

“The lender, however, must do some basic ‘underwriting.’ Specifically, the PPP Regulations contain a section titled, “What do lenders have to do in terms of loan underwriting?” [86 Fed. Reg.] at 3707–08. The regulations enumerate four ‘underwriting’ steps:

- (1) confirm receipt of the borrower certifications in the Form 2483 application;
- (2) confirm receipt of documentation showing employment status of the applicant or if a business, documents showing employees as of February 2020;
- (3) confirm the historic payroll (if the applicant had employees) by examining the documentation submitted; and

- (4) comply with the Bank Secrecy Act (“BSA”) or similar anti-money laundering procedures, such as a customer identification program (“COP”), designed to make sure the lender confirms the identity of the applicant.

Id. In addition to the above steps, the lender was obligated to ‘review’ each application.

Id. at 3708 (‘Each lender’s underwriting obligation under the PPP is limited to the items above and reviewing the ‘Paycheck Protection Borrower Application Form.’).’

46. Accordingly, this Court also has personal jurisdiction over defendant Prestamos by virtue of the underwriting and review process that Prestamos necessarily had to do as to each PPP borrower in this District, including but not limited to plaintiff Pronsky and the thousands of additional PPP borrowers in this District.

47. CPLC controlled, directed and participated in Prestamos’ conduct in PPP lending even though Prestamos was the SBA-approved and qualified PPP lender; directed Prestamos to, and Prestamos in fact did, “upstream” to CPLC hundreds of millions of dollars in PPP loan processing fees Prestamos obtained from the PPP loans of Plaintiffs, class members and other borrowers as if CPLC and Prestamos were one and the same company; referred to CPLC and Prestamos as “CPLC Prestamos CDFI” and “CPLC PRESTAMOS LOAN PRODUCTS”; shared senior executives and directors with Prestamos and overlapping websites that promoted each other; controlled Prestamos which was at all times relevant CPLC’s wholly-owned subsidiary; was Prestamos’ alter ego at all times relevant in connection with PPP lending; participated directly in PPP lending including via its common employees with Prestamos and its sharing of employees for Prestamos’ PPP lending; and defendant Prestamos’ contacts in this District in connection with PPP lending and the claims at issue are imputed to its corporate parent CPLC for purposes of jurisdiction.

48. Venue is proper in this judicial District under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(2) because a substantial part of the events giving rise to the claims occurred in this District.

Additional Factual Allegations

Background Concerning the COVID-19 Pandemic and the PPP

49. On March 11, 2020, the World Health Organization declared the COVID-19 outbreak a “pandemic.” Two days later, on March 13, 2020, the United States declared a national emergency due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

50. In response, on March 27, 2020, the United States Congress passed the largest economic stimulus package in the nation’s history -- the CARES Act. The CARES Act amounted to over $2 trillion in aid, equivalent to roughly $6,000 per American, or 45% of all federal government spending for 2019.

51. The CARES Act was enacted to provide immediate assistance to individuals, families, and businesses affected by the COVID-19 emergency.

52. One facet of the CARES Act’s approach to economic relief was the PPP. Recognizing the huge strain that the COVID-19 pandemic would likely impose on American small businesses, the PPP initially allocated $349 billion for loans to small businesses, sole proprietors, and nonprofit organizations, among others. These loans were intended to pay up to eight weeks of payroll costs (including benefits) and could also be used to pay interest on mortgages, rent, and utilities.

53. PPP loans are guaranteed by the SBA, and the PPP provides for loan forgiveness if the borrower demonstrates that the funds were used in compliance with PPP regulations.

54. The PPP has received several legislative renewals, modifications, and extensions. On April 24, 2020, the President signed the Paycheck Protection Program and Health Care

Enhancement Act, which provided additional funding and authority for the PPP. On June 5, 2020, the Paycheck Protection Program Flexibility Act of 2020 was enacted, extending the deferral period for PPP loans, among other provisions. On July 4, 2020, the PPP was further amended to guarantee PPP loans to August 8, 2020. On December 27, 2020, the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act (the “Economic Aid Act”) was enacted, which further extended the PPP and allowed for the SBA to authorize second-draw PPP loans through March 31, 2021, available to borrowers who already used their previous PPP loan proceeds for permitted expenditures. On March 11, 2021, the American Rescue Plan Act was signed into law, adding an additional $7.25 billion for PPP loans, bringing total appropriations for the program to $813.7 billion. Finally, on March 30, 2021, the PPP Extension Act was enacted, which extended the PPP application deadline to May 31, 2021, and gave the SBA until June 30, 2021 to process loan applications.

55. PPP loans are generally available to businesses in operation as of February 15, 2020 that had salaried employees, as well as self-employed individuals. Businesses receiving PPP loans cannot have more than 500 employees and cannot be in bankruptcy. Further, applicants are required to certify that the “current economic uncertainty makes this loan request necessary to support the ongoing operations of the Applicant.” Currently, at least 60% of the proceeds must be used for payroll costs. The entire amount of any PPP loan is subject to forgiveness so long as the proceeds are used for eligible expenses.

56. Under the Economic Aid Act, a PPP borrower is entitled to a second draw under narrower conditions than its first draw. For example, a second draw borrower must have 300 or fewer employees, must demonstrate that it sustained a certain percentage reduction in its gross receipts compared to 2019, and must have used its entire first draw proceeds prior to disbursement of its second draw proceeds. Second draw loans -- like first draw loans -- are also subject to forgiveness.

57. Given the anticipated volume of PPP loan applications, Congress provided for PPP loan processing and funding through private lenders, with the SBA paying these lenders a fee for each processed PPP loan. The SBA was required to pay loan processing fees only to SBA-authorized lenders, not any service provider the lender may also have used.

58. For their participation, the PPP originally provided that lenders would receive fees at a rate of five percent for loans $350,000.00 or less, three percent for loans between 350,000.00 and $2,000,000.00, and one percent for loans over $2,000,000.00. See SBA Procedural Notice, Control No. 5000-20091 (Feb. 8, 2021), available at SBA Procedural Notice: Second Updated PPP Processing Fee and 1502 Reporting (last accessed Sept. 17, 2021).

59. To address institutional lenders' neglecting of PPP loan applications from many small businesses -- especially minority, underserved, veteran, and women-owned businesses -- in favor of larger PPP loans, the Economic Aid Act added that lenders processing loans of up to $50,000.00 would receive an increased fee of fifty percent or $2,500.00, whichever is less, per PPP loan beginning December 27, 2020.

60. As a result, PPP lenders received a flat fee of $2,500.00 for virtually every PPP loan less than $50,000.00.

61. On February 8, 2021, the SBA issued a new notice setting forth the procedure for how lenders would be paid PPP loan fees by the SBA. Id. To apply for a PPP loan, a prospective borrower would have to submit a standardized Borrower Application Form issued by the SBA (SBA Form 2483 for first time borrowers, and SBA Form 2483-SD for second draw borrowers), together with relevant payroll documentation, to a lender. Once the lender reviewed and approved the loan application, the lender would submit the application to the SBA for approval.

62. Following SBA approval of an application, the SBA would issue a ten-digit loan identification number (known as a “GP [General Program] number”) for the borrower’s loan.

63. Provided that the borrower had executed the loan documents, the lender was required to disburse the PPP funds within ten days of SBA approval and assignment of the loan number. In particular, the SBA rule regarding PPP loan funding states, in relevant part, as follows: “The lender must make a one-time, full disbursement of the PPP loan within 10 calendar days of loan approval; for purposes of this rule, a loan is considered approved when the loan is assigned a loan number by the SBA.” 86 FR 3692, 3710 (emphasis added).

64. The SBA rule also provided as follows: “Notwithstanding this limitation, lenders are not responsible for delays in disbursement attributable to a borrower’s failure to timely provide required loan documentation, including a signed promissory note. Loans for which funds have not been disbursed because a borrower has not submitted required loan documentation within 20 within 20 calendar days of approval shall be cancelled by the lender.” Id. Accord Greathouse v. Capital Plus Financial, LLC, No. 4:22-CV-0686-P, 2023 WL 5746927, at *5 (N.D. Tex. Sept. 6, 2023) (noting that this “provision does not address whether cancellation is required if Plaintiffs filled out the documentation incorrectly or if Plaintiffs’ bank bounced the funds. Indeed, there are many possibilities where loans might remain unfunded that fall outside of this narrow statutory provision”) (“CPF”).

65. Although the SBA’s funding rule did not address all circumstances requiring when a loan had to be cancelled as the Court noted in CPF, the SBA rules required lenders to accurately report to the SBA regarding whether the PPP loan was or was not fully disbursed. See 86 FR 3692, 3709 (“The lender must report on SBA Form 1502 whether it has fully disbursed PPP loan proceeds.”). See also Id. (“In addition to providing ACH credit information to direct payment of the requested processing fee, lenders will be required to confirm that all PPP loans for which the lender is requesting a processing fee have been fully disbursed on the disbursement dates and in the loan amounts reported.”). And as detailed more fully below, the SBA’s Form 1502 reports required lenders to update those reports and specifically identify the PPP loan amounts that were and were not disbursed.

66. Lenders’ compliance with the above PPP funding requirement was of paramount importance to applicants and borrowers for reasons beyond their need to get the PPP loan proceeds in a timely manner.

67. Once the SBA approved a PPP loan and assigned it a loan number, the applicant could not apply for a PPP loan with any other lender because the applicant could not make all of the required certifications on another PPP loan application. Thus, once approved, the borrower was essentially “stuck” with the lender to whom it applied for the PPP loan, meaning that the borrower had to rely exclusively on the good faith of the lender to actually fund the loan.

68. For both first draw and second draw PPP loans, a PPP loan applicant had to certify that they had not and would not receive another first draw or second draw loan, respectively.

69. Since the lender’s obligation to fund a PPP loan ran from the date the SBA approved and assigned a loan number provided that the borrower completed and returned the loan documents, an applicant could not certify to another lender that they would not receive the first loan even if the first lender had failed to timely or otherwise (even belatedly) fund the loan.

70. Once a PPP loan was purportedly funded, the lender had ten days to submit an SBA Form 1502 to report to the SBA that the loan proceeds had been disbursed in order to qualify for payment of the loan processing fee. After the lender submitted a Form 1502 indicating that the loan was disbursed to the borrower, the SBA would initiate payment of the loan processing fee to the lender.

71. By submitting a Form 1502 to get paid the loan processing fee by the SBA, the lender represented to the SBA that the PPP loan had been fully funded. Further, the lender was required to update the SBA Form 1502 reports each month after the initial Form 1502 was filed detailing each PPP loan's status. If the lender failed to disburse the PPP loan to the borrower in whole or in part, the lender was required to report that accurately.

72. In particular, § 6 of the SBA Form 1502 states that the lender must specifically identify the “Amt Undisbursed on Total Loan: Of the total approved amount (100% amount), the amount that has not been disbursed by the lender as of the month ending date.” (emphasis in original). See <https://www.sba.gov/document/sba-form-1502-sba-form-1502-instructions> (last visited Jan. 7, 2024). Similarly, § 4 of the Form 1502 requires the lender to also specifically identify the status of each PPP loan, including in particular “Status 9: Fully Undisbursed – loan that has not had any disbursements made to the borrower. ... Report Status Code 9 and indicate the Amount Undisbursed on Total Loan, until such time that the loan is disbursed.” (emphasis in original). Id.

73. As alleged more fully below, all Plaintiffs were approved for their PPP loans and assigned SBA loan numbers; timely completed and returned to Prestamos all requisite loan documentation; never had their loans funded by Prestamos; and were misreported by Prestamos to the SBA as being funded so Prestamos could obtain the loan fees.

74. The PPP was also designed to make eligible PPP loans completely forgivable. According to recent PPP loan data, 93% of all PPP loans have been fully or partially forgiven, representing $755,714,750,900. See https://www.sba.gov/sites/default/files/2022-10/2022.10.24 Weekly%20Forgiveness%20Report Public.pdf.

75. Plaintiffs and the members of the classes could not obtain forgiveness on their PPP loans because they could not represent that they had properly used PPP loan proceeds that they in fact never received from Prestamos.

76. In addition to being unfunded and unable to have their loans forgiven, Plaintiffs and other class members also remain bound under the PPP loan notes they and Prestamos entered into to pay back to Prestamos, with interest, PPP loan proceeds they never received. In particular, § 3 of the standard SBA form Note that the Plaintiffs and class members entered into with Prestamos states as follows: “If the Loan is not fully forgiven, Borrower will remain liable for the full and punctual payment and satisfaction of the remaining outstanding principal balance of the Loan plus accrued but unpaid interest.” See Exhibit A, Note at § 3 (attaching the standard form Note and accompanying loan documents between Prestamos and first-named plaintiff Marshall which also are the standard form Note and accompanying loan documents that all other Plaintiffs and class members entered into with Prestamos).

Background Concerning Defendants

77. According to its website, Prestamos purports to be “your partner in economic development, small business growth and quality job creation.” See Prestamos CDFI, available at <https://www.prestamosloans.org/> (last visited May 1, 2022). Also, according to its website, Prestamos provides loan products and consulting services that “are designed for the emerging business owner seeking funding.” Id.

78. Prestamos is a Community Development Financial Institution (“CDFI”). CDFIs were established as part of the Riegle Community Development and Regulatory Improvement Act of 1994. See What Are CDFIs, available at https://www.cdfifund.gov/sites/cdfi/files/documents/cdfi_infographic_v08a.pdf (last visited May 1, 2022). There are reportedly 1,000 CDFIs operating nationwide. Id.

79. Prestamos is owned by defendant CPLC. Although CPLC purports to be a domestic nonprofit corporation organized under Arizona law, it states on its website that “CPLC owns and manages mission-driven for-profit subsidiaries, whose income helps to fund our nonprofit charitable initiatives.” See CPLC, Who We Are, available at <https://cplc.org/about/about.php> (last visited May 1, 2022).

80. Further, as a nonprofit, CPLC is exempt from income tax provided it complies with applicable provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and regulations of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service (the “IRS”). CPLC also is obligated to file with the IRS each year a Form 990 Return of Organization Exempt From Income Tax, including a Schedule A Public Charity Status and Public Support, among other things.

81. CPLC’s 2019 Form 990 reported total revenues for the tax year beginning July 1, 2019 and ending June 30, 2020 of $87,628,824 compared to total revenue of $72,381,458 the prior year; states that it paid $40,368,642 out in the period July 1, 2019 to June 30, 2020 for salaries, other compensation, and employee benefits compared to $37,822,034 in the prior period; paid $2,146,064 in grants and similar amounts in the period July 1, 2019 to June 30, 2020 compared to $1,307,549 in the prior period; identified its former President and CEO, Adame, as its principal officer; and is signed by its former CFO and current CEO and President, Nunez. See ProPublica, Chicanos Por La Causa Inc., Form 990 for period ending June 2020, available at https://projects.propublica.org/nonprofits/display_990/860227210/05_2021_prefixes_84-90%2F860227210_202006_990_2021051818121912 (last visited May 1, 2022).

82. Adame served as CPLC's President and CEO until on or about October 6, 2023, when he resigned; Nunez served as CPLC's Executive Vice President and CFO until on or about October 6, 2023, when she became CPLC's Interim President and CEO and, on April 24, 2024, was appointed CPLC's President and CEO; and Max Gonzales ("Gonzales") serves as CPLC's Executive Vice President and Strategy & Relationship Management. See CPLC, Leadership, available at <https://cplc.org/about/leadership.php> (last visited April 26, 2024). In addition, and at all times relevant, Adame, Gonzales and Nunez were the sole members of defendant Prestamos's governing Board of Directors. See Prestamos CDFI, About Us, available at <https://www.prestamosloans.org/about-prestamos/> (last visited May 1, 2022). CPLC's Board Members at large Jose Antonio Habre and Dan Hernandez also served on Prestamos's Community Advisory Board. Id.

83. Further, Defendants shared not just common board of director membership but also senior executives. For example, at all times relevant CPLC's Executive Vice President Economic Development was Jose Martinez ("Martinez"). See CPLC, Leadership, available at <https://cplc.org/about/leadership.php> (last visited April 26, 2024). Accord Jose Martinez, LinkedIn, available at <https://www.linkedin.com/in/jose-martinez-a7173b52/details/experience/> (last visited May 1, 2022). Also at all times relevant, Martinez simultaneously served as President of defendant Prestamos and actually signed in his capacity as President of Prestamos the standard "Notice – No Oral Agreements" form that accompanied the notes Plaintiffs and other SBA-approved borrowers entered into with Prestamos to obtain their PPP loan agreements.

See Exhibit A attached hereto. In fact, Martinez’s email address used in connection with Prestamos’s PPP lending was at his address at cplc.org.

84. Defendants also promoted and referred to each other and held themselves out publicly as being under common control in their websites and other publications. For example, Prestamos’ website states that “Prestamos through its parent corporation, Chicanos Por La Causa, Inc., has administered a variety of lending programs since 1980.” See Prestamos CDFI, About Us, available at <https://www.prestamosloans.org/about-prestamos/> (last visited May 1, 2022) (emphasis added). Similarly, in CPLC’s fiscal year 2019 – 2020 Annual Report, CPLC repeatedly referred to the two Defendants as one, stating as follows:

CPLC Prestamos is filling a critical need to help small businesses keep the lights on during COVID-19. CPLC Prestamos was formed to serve small business in low-income communities and Latino and minority-owned businesses. We provide capital to businesses that don’t have banking relationships or might not qualify for loans. During the pandemic, CPLC Prestamos is administering Paycheck Protection (PPP) loans to help small businesses keep their doors open. We ramped up our operations, serving more than 900 businesses and deploying $26 million in capital to save almost 4,000 jobs.

See CPLC FY19-20, Annual Report, at 7, available at <https://cplc.org/assets/files/publications/CPLC%20FY19-20%20Annual-Report.pdf> (emphasis added) (last visited May 1, 2022).

85. CPLC also reflected its control over Prestamos in CPLC’s Consolidated Financial Statements and Supplementary Information for the fiscal year July 1, 2019 – June 30, 2020 (the “Financial Statements”). For example, CPLC stated in those Financial Statements as follows: “Starting in May 2020, the Organization began participating in the Paycheck Protection Program. Loan origination fees associated with PPP loans are deferred and amortized through the earlier of SBA forgiveness obtained or through the term of the loan.” See ProPublica, Chicanos

Por La Causa Inc., at 18 available at https://projects.propublica.org/nonprofits/display_audit/11175820211 (emphasis added) (last visited May 1, 2022). Similarly, while later also stating in those Financial Statements that defendant Prestamos “participated in” PPP lending, CPLC also stated in that very same paragraph regarding PPP loan processing fees that, “[a]s of June 30, 2021, the Organization received $314,260,826 from SBA, $5,086,196 was recognized as loan fee revenue and $309,174,630 was recorded as deferred revenue.” Id. at 20 (emphasis added).

86. Prestamos represents on its website that, as a CDFI, it is “dedicated to helping economic growth in underserved areas by providing financing solutions to businesses and economic development projects.” See Prestamos CDFI, available at <https://www.prestamosloans.org/> (last visited May 1, 2022).

87. Since many sole proprietors’ PPP loans were in amounts less than $10,000.00, PPP lenders like Prestamos were generating processing fees of only several hundred dollars for making those loans in 2020.

88. Pursuant to the new 2021 increased fee schedule, however, lenders like Prestamos could count on collecting a $2,500.00 flat fee for nearly every PPP loan less than $50,000.00.

89. Taking into consideration the incredible demand for PPP loans less than $50,000.00 by sole proprietors, independent contractors, self-employed individuals and other underserved small businesses together with the more lucrative fee schedule, Prestamos saw an opportunity to obtain enormous amounts of lender fees by booking a high volume of PPP loans under $50,000.00.

90. CPLC and/or Prestamos reportedly contracted with Blue Acorn PPP, LLC (and/or its affiliate FinCap, Inc. or their affiliates) (“Blueacorn”) in 2021 and potentially other third parties to help identify borrowers to whom Prestamos could make PPP loans and assist in the PPP paperwork process.

91. Blueacorn was created in 2020.

92. Blueacorn is neither a bank nor a lender and, therefore, cannot actually make PPP loans.

93. In general, only SBA section 7(a)-approved lenders were approved to make PPP loans, together with any additional lenders determined by the Administrator of the SBA and the Secretary of the U.S. Treasury to also be qualified to make such loans. See 86 FED. REG. 3692 (Jan. 14, 2021), available at Federal Register :: Business Loan Program Temporary Changes; Paycheck Protection Program as Amended by Economic Aid Act (last visited May 1, 2022).

94. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and other similarly situated class member borrowers contracted with Prestamos as the lender obligated to make the PPP loans.

95. For its role in identifying potential borrowers and helping with the PPP paperwork, Blueacorn reportedly received a part of the lender's fees pursuant to a separate contractual relationship between the lender and Blueacorn. See Stacy Crowley & Ella Koeze, How Two Start-Ups Reaped Billions in Fees on Small Business Relief Loans, N.Y. Times, June 27, 2021, Updated Oct. 11, 2021, available at <https://www.nytimes.com/2021/06/27/business/ppp-relief-loans-blueacorn-womply.html> (last visited May 1, 2022). Prestamos contracted with Blueacorn for Blueacorn's services as a lender service provider ("LSP") to Prestamos for PPP lending, and PPP rules provide that Blueacorn was acting within the scope of Prestamos' authority as its LSP for PPP lending.

Defendants Exploit PPP Lending

96. At all times relevant, CPLC and its senior executives, including Adame, Gonzales and Nunez who simultaneously were also the sole members of Prestamos's Board of Directors, as well as Martinez who simultaneously served as CPLC's Executive Vice President and Prestamos' President and other CPLC executives, controlled Prestamos, including Defendants' plan for Prestamos to dramatically ramp up its PPP lending activity so that Defendants could be enriched thereby.

97. Defendants succeeded in that respect. In particular as noted above, Defendants exploited the increased fees to be paid by the SBA on smaller PPP loans in 2021 by reportedly having Prestamos agree to fund 494,415 PPP loans totaling over $7.6 billion in loan proceeds -- more loans than any other lender, and more loans than Bank of America, PNC Bank, TD Bank and Wells Fargo combined. See SBA, Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) Report, Approvals through 5/31/2021, p. 7, available at https://www.sba.gov/sites/default/files/2021-06/PPP_Report_Public_210531-508.pdf (last visited May 1, 2022).

98. As a result, Prestamos reportedly generated nearly $1.2 billion in PPP loan fees in 2021. See Stacy Crowley & Ella Koeze, How Two Start-Ups Reaped Billions in Fees on Small Business Relief Loans, N.Y. Times, June 27, 2021, Updated Oct. 11, 2021, available at <https://www.nytimes.com/2021/06/27/business/ppp-relief-loans-blueacorn-womply.html> (last visited May 1, 2022) ("Last year, Prestamos made $1.3 million for its lending. This year, it will collect nearly $1.2 billion, according to a New York Times calculation of lenders' fees based on government data.").

99. Further, according to CPLC's own Financial Statements, defendant Prestamos upstreamed to CPLC some or all of the net PPP loan processing fees Prestamos obtained. See ProPublica, Chicanos Por La Causa Inc., Consolidated Financial Statements, p.20 Year Ended June 30, 2021, available at https://projects.propublica.org/nonprofits/display_audit/11175820211 (last visited May 2, 2022) (“As of June 30, 2021, the Organization received $314,260,826 from SBA, $5,086,196 was recognized as loan fee revenue and $309,174,630 was recorded as deferred revenue.”) (emphasis added).

100. Even though Prestamos and not CPLC was the SBA-approved PPP lender, CPLC also blurred the distinction between it and Prestamos and referred to and touted the success of Prestamos’ PPP lending as its own in CPLC’s own website, as follows:

“In 2021, CPLC Prestamos CDFI was named the #1 U.S. Small Business Administration PPP lender by number of loans and the #3 lender by dollar volume with $7.6 billion in approved loans with an average loan amount of $15,526 serving 78% minority owned businesses.” (emphasis added);

“CPLC Prestamos is an award-winning Community Development Financial Institution (CDFI) ...” (emphasis added); and

“CPLC PRESTAMOS LOAN PRODUCTS” (emphasis added)

See Chicanos Por La Causa, Small Business Lending, available at <https://cplc.org/econ/lending.php> (last visited May 1, 2022).

101. In sum, CPLC participated directly in Prestamos’ PPP lending even though Prestamos and not CPLC was the SBA-approved lender; controlled and directed Prestamos’ PPP lending activities through its common management and control and 100% ownership of Prestamos; exploited Prestamos’ status as the SBA-approved PPP lender; enriched itself by causing Prestamos to upstream to CPLC hundreds of millions of dollars in PPP loan processing fees including on the backs of Plaintiffs and other class members whose SBA-approved PPP loans Prestamos reported as funded to obtain the PPP loan processing fees but were, in fact, not funded; and, in turn, improperly enriched itself and its leadership from a federally-funded program designed to actually help small minority, women and other business putative class member owners whose businesses were struggling amid the COVID-19 pandemic and whose mission Defendants purported to serve.

102. Adame even touted the success of the two companies' PPP lending publicly in the media, stating as follows: "'What we did together is absolutely incredible,' said David Adame, the chief executive of Chicanos Por La Causa, the parent organization of Prestamos. 'The myth that you can't serve communities of color, or underserved communities, with a technology model, at scale - we've blown that away.'" See Stacy Crowley & Ella Koeze, How Two Start-Ups Reaped Billions in Fees on Small Business Relief Loans, N.Y. Times, June 27, 2021, Updated Oct. 11, 2021, available at <https://www.nytimes.com/2021/06/27/business/ppp-relief-loans-blueacorn-womply.html> (last visited May 1, 2022)

Prestamos's Participation in the PPP Liquidity Facility

103. To facilitate lending under the SBA's PPP, the Federal Reserve supplied liquidity to Prestamos and other participating financial institutions through term financing to be secured by the PPP loans. See Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Paycheck Protection Program Liquidity Facility (PPPLF), available at <https://www.federalreserve.gov/monetarypolicy/ppplf.htm> (last visited May 1, 2022).

104. In particular, the Paycheck Protection Program Liquidity Facility ("PPPLF") was authorized under § 13(3) of the Federal Reserve Act "to facilitate lending by eligible borrowers [i.e., PPP lenders] to small businesses under the [PPP]. ... Under the Facility, the Federal Reserve Banks ('Reserve Banks') will lend to eligible borrowers [i.e., PPP lenders] on a non-recourse basis, taking PPP Loans as collateral." See Paycheck Protection Program Liquidity

Facility Term Sheet, available at <https://www.federalreserve.gov/newsevents/pressreleases/files/monetary20210625a1.pdf> (last visited May 1, 2022).

105. Further, “[a]ll lenders that are eligible to originate PPP Loans are eligible to borrow under the Facility.” Id.

106. For Prestamos and other qualified CDFI PPP lenders, the lending Federal Reserve Bank was the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland. Id.

107. Only SBA-guaranteed PPP loans are eligible to serve as collateral for PPPLF advances, and the principal amount advanced under the PPPLF was to be equal to the principal amount of the PPP loan pledged to secure the extension of credit. Id.

108. By borrowing from the PPPLF, Prestamos received PPP loan advances exclusively for the purpose of funding SBA-approved PPP loans, and Prestamos pledged those loans, in turn, as collateral to secure those PPPLF loan proceeds. The PPP provided that the funding for the PPP loans would only be advanced by the Federal Reserve after the SBA had approved the PPP loan and the PPP note and accompanying loan documents were signed. To pledge a PPP loan as collateral and request a PPPLF loan advance, Prestamos had to complete and submit a PPPLF Pledge and Advance Request form (the “Advance Request Form”). See https://www.frbdiscountwindow.org/generalpages/ppplf_historical_documentation. The Advance Request Form required Prestamos to provide information about each loan, and the PPP rules were incorporated into and a binding part of each PPP note and accompanying loan agreement documents. See 15 U.S.C. § 9008(g) (requiring PPP lenders to make loans “under the criteria, terms, and conditions” set by the SBA and other applicable rules).

109. Prestamos also repeatedly made numerous false representations confirming its agreement to fund the loans of Plaintiffs and other SBA-approved but unfunded PPP borrowers as part of the Advance Request Forms. Prestamos also obtained PPP loan processing fees by falsely representing in its Form 1502 reports to the SBA that Prestamos had funded Plaintiffs' and the other SBA-approved class member PPP loans Prestamos committed to fund but failed to fund.

110. Prestamos received billions of dollars of advances through the PPPLF as specified more fully below.

111. In fact, although the PPP application period ended on May 31, 2021 and the life cycle of a PPP loan application should only take a few business days, Prestamos continued to receive huge advances through the PPPLF between June 30, 2021 and July 30, 2021, after the deadline for processing loan applications.

112. For example, on June 30, 2021 alone, Prestamos received PPPLF cash advances of approximately $118,743,226.

113. In particular, according to a report by the Federal Reserve to the U.S. Congress dated September 13, 2021 "PPPLF Transaction-specific Disclosures (XLSX)," Prestamos received the following specific cash advances from the PPPLF:

114. As alleged below, while Prestamos received over $7.1 billion from the PPPLF in 2021 alone, Prestamos unjustifiably failed to disburse PPP loan funds approved by the SBA to Plaintiffs and numerous other SBA-approved borrower members of the proposed class.

115. Prestamos failed to disburse the proceeds of class member approved loans despite having actually received the unfunded PPP loan proceed advances from the PPPLF, and despite the fact that Prestamos pledged class member loans dollar-for-dollar to obtain those PPPLF advances.

Prestamos' Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Marshall's PPP Loan

116. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Marshall was, and continues to be, in the business of providing in-home healthcare in the Sacramento, California area.

117. Due to the pandemic, Marshall was not able to provide in-home care with the same frequency and, as a result, lost significant income.

118. On or about April 21, 2021, Marshall applied for a PPP loan with Prestamos. Marshall submitted all requested documentation and information, including but not limited to the standard form Note and accompanying documents that all class member borrowers similarly submitted to Prestamos.

119. Plaintiff Marshall and the other Plaintiffs and class members formed binding and enforceable agreements with Prestamos when they completed and submitted the Note and other applicable accompanying documents to Prestamos.

120. In particular, the Note also included an Additional and Correction Documents Agreement (Errors and Omissions Agreement) (the “Additional Agreement”) between Prestamos and plaintiff Marshall; a Business Purpose Statement; a Notice - No Oral Agreements bearing the signature of Prestamos’s President Martinez and plaintiff Marshall; a Written Consent of Governing Body form for Marshall to represent that she is authorized to receive the loan and on which Prestamos may rely; an IRS W-9 Request for Taxpayer Identification Number and Certification; and an Information and Bank Account Certification and Authorization form identifying the bank or other account to which Prestamos would send the funds (collectively, the “Loan Documents”). All other Plaintiffs and class members also entered into the same standard form Loan Documents with Prestamos.

121. On or about April 22, 2021, the SBA approved Marshall’s PPP loan application and assigned it a loan number (SBA Loan Number 8282208801).

122. Marshall was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $7,915.00.

123. The Note identified the SBA loan number and amount, defendant Prestamos as the lender and plaintiff Marshall as the borrower; set forth payment terms, potential events of default, Prestamos’s rights in the event of default, and other terms and conditions; and provided the terms for plaintiff Marshall to repay the loan to Prestamos if it was not forgiven, among other things.

124. On April 29, 2021, Marshall signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $7,915.00 PPP loan.

125. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and multiple additional attempts to obtain the loan proceeds, Marshall never received the proceeds of her SBA-approved PPP loan.

126. Marshall also took additional, specific steps to obtain her SBA-approved loan. For example, on August 2, 2021, Marshall contacted her local SBA office about Prestamos's failure to fund her PPP loan.

127. Similarly, on August 3, 2021, Marshall emailed the SBA to again pursue funding of her PPP loan.

128. On August 3, 2021, the SBA office responded and provided Marshall with the following information about her PPP loan:

Alicia Marshall West Sacramento CA Amount $7,915 Status Disbursed Current Loan 82822088-01 App 29343623 Funded 04/22/2021[.]

129. Marshall also continued her attempts to collect the PPP loan proceeds directly with Prestamos. For example, on September 4, 2021, Marshall emailed Prestamos's President Martinez stating that "I was SBA approved on April 22nd 2021 and I signed a promissory note with you on April 29th 2021"; that "I understand there is a lot of fraud going on but my business is legitimate"; that "I don't understand why my loan was approved money was sent and now its cancelled"; that "I would appreciate if you can explain this to me or look into it and see what went wrong"; and that "I would hope that you being president of a rapidly growing respected business would not want any of your customers to have a negative experience dealing with your company so I have faith that you will be able to resolve this issue promptly!"

130. Although the SBA's records reported that plaintiff Marshall's PPP loan had actually been funded, Marshall never received any PPP loan proceeds despite her repeated attempts to actually get funded.

131. The SBA's record of the alleged disbursement of Marshall's loan proceeds and the purported disbursement of the PPP loan proceeds by Prestamos to all other Plaintiffs and class members was based on false data Prestamos reported to the SBA. In the case of all of the PPP loans of Plaintiffs and the members of the class, Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that the loans were funded and obtained a loan processing fee despite the fact that the loans were not funded.

132. Thus, while Prestamos agreed to extend credit to Marshall and the other Plaintiffs and class members by identifying itself as her lender in the Note -- that is, fund their SBA-approved loan -- Prestamos never actually extended credit to them because it failed to fund their PPP loans.

133. In fact, on September 21, 2021, the SBA sent an email to plaintiff Marshall stating that she is eligible to apply "for PPP Direct Forgiveness because your lender has opted in and you have a PPP loan amount of $150,000 or less."

134. Despite the SBA's September 21, 2021 email inviting plaintiff Marshall to apply for loan forgiveness and Marshall's repeated attempts to get funding, Marshall never received any PPP loan proceeds.

135. Having properly completed and returned all required loan documents, plaintiff Marshall and all class members were entitled to timely disbursement of their PPP loan funds.

136. Prestamos' failure to fund the loans Marshall and the class after locking them into the Loan Documents also prevented Marshall and the members of the class from pursuing their loan requests with another PPP lender.

137. Prestamos' failure to fund Marshall's SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Marshall of funds that would have directly assisted in the operation of her in-home healthcare business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

138. Prestamos' failure to disburse PPP loan funds to Marshall and the other Plaintiffs and members of the class after agreeing to do so, has also them obligated under the Loan Documents to repay funds to Prestamos that they never received, with interest.

139. Plaintiff Marshall and the other Plaintiffs and members of the class have also been injured in that the loan forgiveness requires affirming, under threat of criminal penalty, that PPP loan funds were used in a particular manner, and they could not so affirm the nature of the use of funds they never received.

Prestamos' Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Pronsky's PPP Loan

140. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Pronsky was in the barbeque catering business.

141. Plaintiff Pronsky's barbeque catering business was in and around Reading, Pennsylvania.

142. Due to the pandemic, Pronsky's catering business lost significant income.

143. Accordingly, in or about May 2021, Pronsky also applied for a PPP loan.

144. On May 27, 2021, the SBA approved Pronsky's PPP loan application and assigned it a loan number (SBA Loan Number 4628549010).

145. Pronsky was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $8,332.00.

146. Also on May 27, 2021, Pronsky received the same form PPP loan promissory Note and accompanying additional Loan Documents that plaintiff Marshall had also received.

147. Additionally, on May 27, 2021, Pronsky signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $8,332.00 PPP loan.

148. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation, Pronsky never received the proceeds of his SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded his loan.

149. Prestamos' failure to fund Pronsky's SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Pronsky of funds that would have assisted in the operation of his catering business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

Prestamos' Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Townsend's PPP Loan

150. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Townsend was in the business of making and selling hair care products in the San Bernadino, California area.

151. Due to the pandemic, Townsend's hair care business lost significant income.

152. Accordingly, on or about May 6, 2021, Townsend applied for a PPP loan.

153. Also in May 2021, the SBA approved Townsend's PPP loan application and assigned it a loan number (SBA Loan Number 4476579008).

154. Townsend was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $20,012.00.

155. On or about May 27, 2021, Townsend received the same form PPP loan promissory Note and accompanying additional Loan Documents that plaintiff Marshall had also received.

156. Additionally, on May 27, 2021, Townsend signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $20,012.00 PPP loan.

157. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation, Townsend never received the proceeds of her SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded her loan.

158. Prestamos' failure to fund Townsend's SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Townsend of funds that would have directly assisted in the operation of her hair care products business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

Prestamos' Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Holland's PPP Loan

159. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Holland was in the real estate business in the Greenwich, Connecticut area.

160. Due to the pandemic, Holland's real estate business lost significant income.

161. In or about May 2021, Holland applied for a PPP loan with Prestamos. Holland submitted all requested documentation and information.

162. Also in May 2021, the SBA approved Holland's PPP loan application and assigned it a loan number (SBA Loan Number 1427199001).

163. Holland was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $20,832.00.

164. On May 19, 2021, Holland received the same form PPP loan promissory Note and accompanying Loan Documents that plaintiff Marshall had received.

165. Also on May 19, 2021, Holland signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $20,832.00 PPP loan.

166. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents, Holland never received the proceeds of her SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded her loan.

167. Prestamos failed to fund the loan despite additional steps by Holland to obtain the PPP loan proceeds. For example, Holland wrote an email to Prestamos's President Martinez on August 13, 2021 stating that "I applied in May, was approved and signed the promissory note 19 May"; that "[t]he SBA website shows my funds disbursed as of May"; and that "I am writing to you to request your assistance in this matter." Neither Prestamos nor Martinez responded to Holland's August 13 email.

168. Holland also sought the assistance of the SBA to obtain funding, and the SBA, in turn, similarly requested the assistance of Prestamos and its President Martinez. Specifically, according to a September 20, 2021 email from SBA employee John Xu to Martinez:

"Subject: Nancilee Realty Greenwich CT

Hi Jose,

Ms. Holland contacted SBA regarding her PPP. She stated that the application was approved but she did not receive the funds.

I found your name under her loan application, and the funds were disbursed currently in our system as follows.

Can you or your staff look into the case and get it back to her?

Nancilee Realty
Greenwich CT
Amount $20,832
Status Disbursed Client
Loan 14271990-01

Funded 05/13/2021."

169. Holland still did not receive any response from Prestamos or Martinez in response to her inquiries.

170. On October 1, 2021 -- the very day this lawsuit was filed -- Holland faxed a letter to Martinez stating as follows:

“1 October, 2021

I have not received a response from you to my email of August 13th. Nor have you responded to the emails from Mr. Xu of the SBA. Kindly provide the courtesy of a response. I can be reached at [tel. no. omitted].

171. Despite Holland’s multiple additional attempts to obtain the loan proceeds, Prestamos failed to fund Holland’s SBA-approved PPP loan.

172. Prestamos’ failure to fund Holland’s SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Holland of funds that would have assisted in the operation of her real estate brokerage business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

198. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation, Dervin never received the proceeds of her SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded her loan.

199. Prestamos' failure to fund Dervin's SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Dervin of funds that would have directly assisted in the operation of her janitorial business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

Prestamos' Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Henderson's PPP Loan

200. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Henderson was in the women's clothing business in the Macomb, Michigan area.

207. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation, Henderson never received the proceeds of her SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded her loan.

208. Prestamos' failure to fund Henderson's SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Henderson of funds that would have directly assisted in the operation of her clothing business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

Prestamos' Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Innis' PPP Loan

209. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Innis was in the carpet and upholstery cleaning business in the Las Vegas, Nevada area.

210. Due to the pandemic, Innis' carpet and upholstery cleaning business lost significant income.

211. In May 2021, Innis applied for a PPP loan with Prestamos. Innis submitted all requested documentation and information.

212. Also in May 2021, the SBA approved Innis' PPP loan application and assigned it a loan number (SBA Loan Number 8207338903).

213. Innis was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $10,625.00.

214. On May 26, 2021, Innis received the same form PPP loan promissory Note and accompanying Loan Documents that plaintiff Marshall had received.

215. Also on May 26, 2021, Innis signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $10,625.00 PPP loan.

216. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation, Innis never received the proceeds of his SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded his loan.

217. Prestamos failed to fund Innis' PPP loan despite Innis' repeated additional attempts to try to get his SBA-approved PPP loan actually funded. For example, in an October 1, 2021 email to Litza Menendez ("Menendez"), Loan Servicing Specialist for Prestamos and its parent CPLC, Innis stated as follows:

"hi so what's the word!? I'm getting emails from the SBA now about applying for loan forgiveness. I remember you telling me you will probably have to send me a prepaid card."

218. Further, in another email to Menendez on October 12, 2021, Innis stated as follows (emphasis in original):

“Hello Litza, I’m writing you to give you one more chance to disperse my money before I file a lawsuit against you. The SBA website is CURRENT!!! I just got off the phone with them and was told IT IS CURRENT and that my funds are in someone’s BANK ACCOUNT THAT ISN’T MINE IF YOU THINK IM GOING TO JUST LIE DOWN AND LET THIS HAPPEN LIKE EVERYONE ELSE U ARE HIGHLY MISTAKEN..... I knew I wasn’t stupid and did my research before even contacting you and that your statements were FALSE..... once again the SBA website IS CURRENT AND SHOWS ME STILL FUNDED AND THAT MONEY IS IN SOMEONES BANK ACCOUNT NOT AFFILIATED WITH ME OR BLUE ACORN OR PRESTAMOS..... DO THE RIGHT THING[.]”

219. Despite even these additional attempts, Prestamos failed to fund Innis’ loan.

220. Prestamos’ failure to fund Innis’s SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Innis of funds that would have directly assisted in the operation of his carpet and upholstery cleaning business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

Prestamos’ Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Stalnaker’s PPP Loan

221. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Stalnaker was in the homemaker/personal care provider business in the Ravenna, Ohio area, where she continued to reside at all applicable times.

222. Due to the pandemic, Stalnaker’s homemaker/personal care provider business lost significant income.

223. In or about April 2021, Stalnaker applied for a PPP loan with Prestamos. Stalnaker submitted all requested documentation and information.

224. Also in April 2021, the SBA approved Stalnaker’s PPP loan application and assigned it a loan number (SBA Loan Number 1641908909).

225. Stalnaker was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $9,052.00.

226. On April 29, 2021, Stalnaker received the same form PPP loan promissory Note and accompanying Loan Documents that plaintiff Marshall had received.

227. Also on April 29, 2021, Stalnaker signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $9,052.00 PPP loan.

228. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation, Stalnaker never received the proceeds of her SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded her loan.

229. Prestamos' failure to fund Stalnaker's SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Stalnaker of funds that would have directly assisted in the operation of her homemaker/personal care provider business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

Prestamos' Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Jones' PPP Loan

230. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Jones was in the delivery service business in the Golden Valley, Arizona area.

231. Due to the pandemic, Jones' delivery service lost significant income.

232. In or about May 2021, Jones applied for a PPP loan with Prestamos. Jones submitted all requested documentation and information.

233. Also in May 2021, the SBA approved Jones' PPP loan application and assigned it a loan number (SBA Loan Number 8899718910).

234. Jones was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $4,130.00.

235. On or about May 30, 2021, Jones received the same form PPP loan promissory Note and accompanying Loan Documents that plaintiff Marshall had received.

236. Also on May 30, 2021, Jones signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $4,130.00 PPP loan.

237. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation, Jones never received the proceeds of her SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded her loan.

238. In fact, on October 14, 2021 and again on November 2, 2021, the SBA sent emails to plaintiff Jones stating that she is “eligible for PPP Direct Forgiveness because your lender has opted in any you have a PPP loan amount of $150,000 OR LESS.”

239. Despite the SBA’s October 14, 2021 and November 2, 2021 emails inviting plaintiff Jones to apply for loan forgiveness, plaintiff Jones never received any PPP loan proceeds.

240. As Jones summarized in a complaint she filed with the BBB on November 4, 2021:

“I filed and was approved for a PPP loan on April 25th 2021 for the amount of $4130 waited a month started sending emails with no responses besides the automated ticket creation and a few emails stating that the support email was no longer active then received loan documents on May 26, 2021 it has been non-stop back and forth with no actual responses or funding received and now I’m receiving emails from the SBA to file for forgiveness on a loan I never received”

241. Prestamos’ failure to fund Jones’ SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Jones of funds that would have directly assisted in the operation of her delivery service business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

Prestamos' Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Drevnak's PPP Loan

242. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Drevnak was in the business of providing housekeeping services in the Colorado Springs, Colorado area.

243. Due to the pandemic, Drevnak was not able to provide in-home housekeeping services with the same frequency and, as a result, lost significant income.

244. In or about May 2021, Drevnak applied for a PPP loan with Prestamos. Drevnak submitted all requested documentation and information, including the same standard form Note and accompanying Loan Documents that plaintiff Marshall received.

245. On or about May 13, 2021, the SBA approved Drevnak's PPP loan application and assigned it a loan number (SBA Loan Number 1842619004). See <https://www.federalpay.org/paycheck-protection-program/georgina-drevnak-colorado-springs-co> (last visited May 22, 2023).

246. Drevnak was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $1,250.00.

247. On or about May 19, 2021, Drevnak signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $1,250.00 PPP loan.

248. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation and additional attempts to obtain the loan proceeds, Drevnak never received the proceeds of her SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded her loan.

249. Although the SBA's records reported that plaintiff Drevnak's PPP loan had actually been funded based on false report from Prestamos, Drevnak never received any PPP loan proceeds despite her additional attempts to actually get her PPP loan funded.

250. The SBA's record of the alleged disbursement of Drevnak's PPP loan proceeds was based on false data Prestamos provided to the SBA. See <https://www.federalpay.org/paycheck-protection-program/georgina-drevnak-colorado-springs-co> (last visited May 22, 2023).

251. Prestamos' failure to fund Drevnak's SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Drevnak of funds that would have directly assisted in the operation of her housekeeping business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

252. Prestamos' failure to disburse PPP loan funds to plaintiff Drevnak, the other Plaintiffs and the members of the class have also left them obligated by way of the parties' contractual agreements set forth in the Loan Documents to repay funds they never received, with interest, as noted above. See attached Exhibit A at § 3.

253. In fact, Prestamos has improperly sought to collect repayment of Drevnak's $1,250 PPP loan, plus interest, despite never funding that loan for Drevnak in the first place. In particular, Drevnak received a statement dated February 1, 2023 from Prestamos identifying the $1,250 principal amount of the loan; stating that 1% interest was also being charged which is the interest amount set forth in the parties' Loan Documents; that $118.44 was then past due; that $29.61 was the total then current due; and that $148.05 was the total amount then due.

254. Drevnak also received an email from Defendants on Saturday February 18, 2023 at 8:36 am from an email address of defendant CPLC bearing the tax exempt suffix ".org" -- specifically "pppservicing@cplc.org" -- stating that "[t]he Principal and Interest payments showing in your attached statement need to be paid to avoid the loan from entering into default"; that, again blurring the distinction between CPLC and Prestamos, "[y]ou will need to email PPP@cplc.org to obtain any information regarding your PPP loan"; that "[i]f your loan goes into default, your business will be placed on the government CAIVRS list and will not be able to receive any sort of government assistance or a government backed loan in the future”; and that “[y]ou can apply for forgiveness at any time during your business’s PPP term, but you will need to continue making Principal and Interest payments to stay current with your loan.”

255. Defendants’ representations concerning forgiveness were also false. In truth, Drevnak could not and cannot properly apply for forgiveness because she cannot represent that she used her PPP loan for proper purposes under the PPP since she never received her PPP loan proceeds in the first place.

256. Plaintiff Drevnak and the other Plaintiffs and members of the class have also been injured in that the loan forgiveness requires affirming, under threat of criminal penalty, that PPP loan funds were used in a particular manner and they could not so affirm the nature of the use of funds they never received.

257. Plaintiff Drevnak is disabled and has separately qualified for and been receiving and substantially relying for her subsistence on Supplemental Security Income (“SSI”) from the U.S. Social Security Administration. Fearful that she would lose her SSI, Drevnak with the assistance of her daughter (who formerly served with the U.S. Special Forces) repeatedly attempted to contact Defendants but failed to have Defendants stop seeking repayment of the PPP loan and otherwise damage Drevnak’s credit or jeopardize her continued eligibility to receive SSI.

258. To the contrary, Defendants subsequently continued in their efforts to collect from Drevnak repayment of the PPP loan principal plus interest and actually declared her to be in default. In an email on February 28, 2023 again from the email address “pppservicing@cplc.org” with the subject “DEMAND LETTER” (original emphasis), Defendants stated as follows:

“NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that 1842619004 (‘Borrower’) under and pursuant to the terms of those Promissory Notes, between borrower and Prestamos CDFI, LLC (Prestamos) dated 5/19/2021 (‘Loan Documents’) in the original amounts [sic] of $1,250.00”; “The following terms of the Loan Documents have been violated and are Events of Default under the Loan Documents: 1. Loan Agreement: Nonpayment of any installment of principal of [sic] interest when due; or 2. Note: the Borrower’s failure to make any payments when due under this Note, which continues for a period of ten (10) days after such due date”; that $1,271.60 was the total amount then due; that Drevnak must “remit the Total amount due by 03/06/2023”; that “[i]f this amount is not received, Prestamos will take whatever actions it deems necessary to protect its capital”; and that “[t]he defaults specified in this letter do not in any way waive Prestamos’ right to declare any other or additional defaults, which may exist as of, or after, the date of this letter.”

Prestamos’ Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Martin’s PPP Loan

259. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Martin operated a driving service in the Midvale, Utah area.

260. Due to the pandemic, Martin’s driving business lost significant income.

261. Accordingly, in or about May 2021, Martin also applied for a PPP loan.

262. On or about May 13, 2021, the SBA approved Martin’s PPP loan application and assigned it a loan number (SBA Loan Number 1721969008).

263. Martin was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $10,865.00.

264. On or about May 19, 2021, Martin received the same form PPP loan promissory Note and accompanying additional Loan Documents that all Plaintiffs also received.

265. Additionally, on or about May 19, 2021, Martin signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $10,865.00 PPP loan.

266. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation, Martin never received the proceeds of his SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded his loan.

267. Prestamos's failure to fund the SBA-approved loans of plaintiff Martin and the class after locking them into the Loan Documents also prevented plaintiff Martin and the other Plaintiffs and members of the class from pursuing their loan requests with another PPP lender.

268. Although the SBA's records reported that plaintiff Martin's PPP loan had actually been funded, Martin never received any PPP loan proceeds despite his attempts to actually get his PPP loan funded.

269. The SBA's record of the alleged disbursement of Martin's PPP loan proceeds was based on false data Prestamos provided to the SBA. See <https://www.federalpay.org/paycheck-protection-program/john-martin-midvale-ut> (last visited May 23, 2023).

270. Prestamos' failure to fund Martin's SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Martin of funds that would have assisted in the operation of his driving business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

271. Prestamos' failure to disburse PPP loan funds to plaintiff Martin and the other Plaintiffs and members of the class after agreeing to do so has also left them obligated under the Loan Documents to repay funds to Prestamos they never received in the first place, with interest.

Prestamos' Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Beattie's PPP Loan

272. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Beattie was in the construction business in the Fort Worth, Texas area.

273. Due to the pandemic, Beattie's construction business lost significant income.

274. In or about April 2021, Beattie applied for a PPP loan with Prestamos. Beattie submitted all requested documentation and information.

275. On or about April 23, 2021, the SBA approved Beattie's PPP loan application and assigned it a loan number (SBA Loan Number 8377238802).

276. Beattie was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $20,832.00.

277. On or about April 30, 2021, Beattie received the same form PPP loan promissory Note and accompanying Loan Documents that all Plaintiffs also received.

278. Also on or about April 30, 2021, Beattie signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $20,832.00 PPP loan.

279. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation, Beattie never received the proceeds of his SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded his loan.

280. Although the SBA's records reported that plaintiff Beattie's PPP loan had actually been funded, Beattie never received any PPP loan proceeds despite his attempts to actually get his PPP loan funded.

281. The SBA's record of the alleged disbursement of Beattie's PPP loan proceeds was based on false data Prestamos provided to the SBA. See <https://www.sba.com/ppp-funded-companies/texas/ezra-beattie-12167154> (last visited May 23, 2023).

282. Prestamos' failure to fund Beattie's SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Beattie of funds that would have directly assisted in the operation of his construction business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

283. Prestamos' failure to disburse PPP loan funds to plaintiff Beattie and the other Plaintiffs and members of the class after agreeing to do so has also left them obligated under the Loan Documents to repay funds to Prestamos they never received in the first place, with interest.

Prestamos' Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Lloyd's PPP Loan

284. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Lloyd was in the computer service business in the Houston, Texas area.

285. Due to the pandemic, Lloyd's computer service business lost significant income.

286. In or about May 2021, Lloyd applied for a PPP loan with Prestamos. Lloyd submitted all requested documentation and information.

287. On or about May 20, 2021, the SBA approved Lloyd's PPP loan application and assigned it a loan number (SBA Loan Number 4538249010).

288. Lloyd was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $20,832.00.

289. On or about May 31, 2021, Lloyd received the same form PPP loan promissory Note and accompanying Loan Documents that all Plaintiffs also received.

290. On or about May 31, 2021, Lloyd signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $20,832.00 PPP loan.

291. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation, Lloyd never received the proceeds of his SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded his loan.

292. Although the SBA's records reported that plaintiff Lloyd's PPP loan had actually been funded, Lloyd never received any PPP loan proceeds despite his attempts to actually get his PPP loan funded.

293. The SBA's record of the alleged disbursement of Lloyd's PPP loan proceeds was based on false data Prestamos provided to the SBA. See <https://www.federalpay.org/paycheck-protection-program/gregory-lloyd-houston-tx> (last visited May 23, 2023).

294. Prestamos' failure to fund Lloyd's SBA-approved PPP loan deprived Lloyd of funds that would have assisted in the operation of his computer services business and resulted in lost opportunities and other consequential damages.

295. Prestamos' failure to disburse PPP loan funds to all Plaintiffs and class members after agreeing to do so, has left them also both unable to obtain loan forgiveness as the PPP was designed to do and in fact did concerning a large number of borrowers, and obligated under the Loan Documents to repay funds to Prestamos that they never received, with interest.

296. In fact, and as is the case with plaintiff Drevnak, defendant Prestamos has also improperly sought to collect repayment of plaintiff Lloyd's $20,832.00 PPP loan, plus interest, despite Prestamos' failure to fund that loan in the first place.

297. In particular, plaintiff Lloyd also received a statement dated February 1, 2023 from Prestamos identifying the $20,832.00 principal amount of the loan; stating that 1% interest was also being charged which is the interest amount set forth in the parties' Loan Documents; that $1,973.60 was then past due; that $493.40 was the then total currently due; and that $2,467.00 was the then total amount due.

298. Also like Drevnak, Lloyd also received the same form email from Defendants the same Saturday, February 18, 2023, from the email address "pppservicing@cplc.org" stating that "[t]he Principal and Interest payments showing in your attached statement need to be paid to avoid the loan from entering into default"; that, again blurring the distinction between CPLC and Prestamos, "[y]ou will need to email PPP@cplc.org to obtain any information regarding your PPP loan”; that “[i]f your loan goes into default, your business will be placed on the government CAIVRS list and will not be able to receive any sort of government assistance or a government backed loan in the future”; and that “[y]ou can apply for forgiveness at any time during your business’s PPP term, but you will need to continue making Principal and Interest payments to stay current with your loan.”

299. Once again, Prestamos’ representations concerning loan forgiveness were also false. In truth, Lloyd could not and cannot properly apply for forgiveness because he cannot represent that he used his PPP loan for proper purposes under the PPP since he never received his PPP loan proceeds in the first place.

300. Plaintiff Lloyd and all Plaintiffs and class members have also been injured in that the loan forgiveness requires affirming, under threat of criminal penalty, that PPP loan funds were properly used as the PPP intended, and Plaintiffs and class members cannot so affirm since Prestamos failed to disburse the loan proceeds to them at all.

Prestamos’ Failure to Fund
Plaintiff Johnson’s PPP Loan

301. When the COVID-19 pandemic began, plaintiff Johnson was in the homecare business in the Merrillville, Indiana area.

302. Due to the pandemic, Johnson’s homecare business lost significant income.

303. In or about May 2021, Johnson applied for a PPP loan with Prestamos. Johnson submitted all requested documentation and information.

304. Also in May 2021, the SBA approved Johnson’s PPP loan application and assigned it a loan number.

305. Johnson was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $20,832.00.

306. On or about May 27, 2021, Johnson received the same form PPP loan promissory Note and accompanying Loan Documents that all Plaintiffs also received.

307. Also on or about May 27, 2021, Johnson signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $20,832.00 PPP loan.

308. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation, Johnson never received the proceeds of her SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had funded her loan.

309. Prestamos' failure to fund the SBA-approved loans of plaintiff Johnson and the other Plaintiffs and members of the class after locking them into the Loan Documents and failing to properly fund the loans also prevented Plaintiffs and the members of the class from pursuing their loan requests with another PPP lender.

310. Although the SBA's records reported that plaintiff Johnson's PPP loan had actually been funded, Johnson never received any PPP loan proceeds despite her attempts to actually get her PPP loan funded.

311. The SBA's record of the alleged disbursement of Johnson's PPP loan proceeds was based on false data Prestamos provided to the SBA. See <https://www.federalpay.org/paycheck-protection-program/alisha-johnson-hammond-in> (last visited May 30, 2023).

317. Marvell was approved for a PPP loan in the amount of $19,020.00.

319. Also on or about May 13, 2021, Marvel signed and returned the Loan Documents in order to obtain the $19,020.00 PPP loan.

320. Despite properly and timely completing, signing and submitting the Loan Documents and all other required loan documentation, Marvel never received the proceeds of her SBA-approved PPP loan although Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it funded her loan.

321. Prestamos' failure to fund the SBA-approved loans of plaintiff Marvel and the other Plaintiffs and members of the class after locking them into the Loan Documents and failing to properly fund the loans also prevented plaintiff Marvel and the members of the class from pursuing their loan requests with another PPP lender.

322. Although the SBA's records reported that plaintiff Marvel's PPP loan had actually been funded, Marvel never received any PPP loan proceeds despite her attempts to actually get her PPP loan funded. The additional follow-up attempts that Marvel unsuccessfully took to get her PPP loan funded included numerous attempts to call, email and text Prestamos among other things.

323. The SBA's record of the alleged disbursement of Marvel's PPP loan proceeds was based on false data Prestamos provided to the SBA. See <https://www.federalpay.org/paycheck-protection-program/lametria-marvel-natchez-ms> (last visited July 18, 2023).

Borrower PPP Loans

371. Numerous other similarly situated borrowers have been damaged by Prestamos' failure to fund their SBA-approved PPP loans and have complained about their experiences to the BBB and via social media sites.

372. For example, the BBB's website identifies a number of complaints against Prestamos:¹

- a. "I was notified on June 2, 2021 that my loan would be funded by Prestamos CDFI, LLC within 3-6 business days. ... I have never been funded." (August 2, 2021 post);

- b. “I was approved a PPP loan in May and SBA has [it] that the loan was disbursed ... in May and I haven’t received a dime, cannot reach anyone via phone and all emails take me around in circles.” (July 12, 2021 post);
- c. “I was later texted approval for funding on 6/3/2021. Since then I have not received the funds. When I check online support it says DENIED. I am frustrated as to what is going on? I reached out to support online email and text but no change in status. When I checked public records online it says my name address and funding amount as if I have been funded already. Please help!” (July 12, 2021) (emphasis in original);
- d. “Its been over 25+ business days since date of signing loan docs. ... On the sba ppp website (capital access financial system) [it says] that my funds HAVE been dispersed [sic] by Prestamos CDFI, LLC which isn’t true because I definitely don’t have the funds. Since Prestamos CDFI, LLC is my lender I hold them responsible.” (July 9, 2021) (emphasis in original);
- e. Prestamos “works with Blueacorn and actually is the lender who signed off on the loan that was meant for me for PPP. ... They keep saying Blueacorn is the company that has your money despite my having entered into a contract with Prestamos. They are continuing to accrue interest for over a month now that I owe on money I never received.” (July 7, 2021);
- f. Prestamos “is extremely I mean extremely hard to get in contact with. ... I’ve called EVERY number on their site and have gotten in contact with no one.” (July 6, 2021) (emphasis in original); and
- g. “I applied for the  PPP Loan online with BlueAcorn (lender servicing provider) in May 2021.  approved by PPP Loan on May 26, 2021 and Prestamos CDFI, LLC is the lender and my loan should have been disbursed within 10 days of my  approval date or 20 days the latest. It has been more than 1 month and I have not received my funds. I sent multiple emails to Prestamos and also left voicemail messages within the past 2 weeks, but Prestamos has not responded at all. My loan status is active but not fully disbursed according to the ProPublicas online information which claimed to come from . I will not be responsible to pay back a loan I never received. I have not canceled my loan either and need it desperately for my business and to support my 2 sons.” (July 2, 2021).

But, Federal Law states that lenders have 10 calendar days to fund the loan after the PLP or SBA LOAN NUMBER is granted, and AFTER 20 DAYS, THE LOAN WILL BE CANCELED IF ALL NECESSARY PAPERWORK IS NOT TURNED IN. Blue Acorn and Prestamos have made it impossible to get in touch with them ON PURPOSE, bc they do not plan on doing anymore work to fund anyone, and they WILL NOT BE REACHING OUT to anyone who is lacking any paperwork - paperwork THEY NEVER ASKED FOR IN THE FIRST PLACE!! At this point, I think it would be wise to send in everything you have (to the SBA? to prestamosinfo@cplc?) that proves you have a business that was in operation before 2020, ie. bank statements, w-2s, everything. Still, they will avoid funding your loan like the plague. They will find some reason for your loan to be denied, even after you have an SBA loan #, due to the 20 day cancelation clause in the Interim Rules. WE ARE NOT GOING TO BE FUNDED FOLKS, ITS OVER. SERIOUSLY, LAWYER UP, BECAUSE THIS IS A VIOLATION OF THE UNFAIR AND DECEPTIVE TRADE PRACTICES ACT, which pays 3X damages (triple damages). These companies are betting on us not being legitimate business owners, and not being able to prove that we are, and moreover, scared to get the authorities involved.” (June 15, 2021) Available at https://www.reddit.com/r/PPPLoans/comments/o0qcxv/blue_acorn_prestamos_waiting_until_20_days_passed/;

 “Approved, funds disbursed, prestamos and blueacorn said they weren’t able to approve me, federalpaygo site shows this ppp loans been disbursed to me but haven’t received anything and the only thing that was on my mind was how shiy it’d be to not only never receive the funds but to have to pay it back as well along with interest so I did how I felt best after Prestamos underwriter said I have a an email confirming I don’t have responsibility for the funds and went ahead and applied for the forgiveness ... prestamos accepted it and sent it off to the sba which was fully remitted by the sba. Can’t apply for forgiveness unless u were approved and funds were disbursed.. I’ve tried speaking with blueacorn and Prestamos several times stating I have all the documentation needed for this from the beginning to the promissory note to “disbursement and forgiveness” they haven’t replied back anything but forward what I’ve sent them back to me. Literally took out a loan from some close friends and family in the amount of the ppp loan to cover payroll and expenses and still haven’t received anything yet when I was suppose to have it in May 2021.”

“I am actually about to be interviewed next week for a follow up piece to BlueAcorn/Prestamos PPP loan article that I read that infuriated me so much I reached out to the reporter and she is doing a follow up article based on the massive number of us who were swindled by these organizations. I too had my signed and approved loan w/ Prestamos and had my money returned after I was approved and that was keystone issue that probably links each and everyone of us, the money got returned. Than instead of standing by Blueacorns whole oh if you are SBA approved, your funds are earmarked and set aside for you, that was not the case. I had an assistant of my states SBA representative call me one afternoon and in a profanity laced provision of facts, advised me of the whole situation and how they simply moved beyond those unfortunate enough to have funds returned and continued funding as many as they could. Hopefully that is the case and they didnt just simply steal the money. But either way, I am owed money and I have been waiting and aching for this process of a class action to start, ever since I was blatantly professing to Blueacorn and Prestamos that it was coming and when I was trying to spread awareness on Reddit to those naive enough to think this wasnt the case. Now I see they recently just had mass denials for all those who continued to submit tickets wondering where their approved loan was in this shady process. It's disgusting. I need what I am owed and much more for the mental anguish and the fact that this was a company federally backed and advocated who not only didn't do what they claimed but did it to a certain segment of the populace that at the time were specifically being targeted to receive this assistance and everyone else was cut off since there was such a dire need for it amongst the lower classes. All these other fraudsters and unscrupulous individuals were having a free for all in being allowed to abuse this program, and when I legitimately provided all approved and required documentation, I get the third degree and am denied after having been approved by Blueacorn, a company that perpetrated fraud outright initially, and now say they are denying me after doing a secondary review, a review that was done by the SBA and approved and not within their purview to even attempt. Hopefully this lawsuit goes after Blueacorn just as much as Prestamos, because you couldn't even reach Prestamos. Only lender I've ever heard of that defers to the middleman for all servicing, questions or funding after they signed a contract between myself them and the SBA. Ridiculous. So glad this is coming to the light because there are hundreds of questions that I demand be answered!"

SBA sent me an email informing me that I can now apply for forgiveness on the loan I never received. According to their records loan was dispersed 6/2/21. I am devastated to learn that the lender has done this to hundreds of thousands of struggling Americans and their families fraudulently using this crisis to steal from the ones who need it the most and the U.S. Government whom intended funds to quickly reach businesses in greatest need."

This loan appears online on several sites as being disbursed from Prestamos CDFI LLC to myself  back in May 2021 but the issue is that Ive never received these funds. When reaching out to Prestamos CDFI LLC showing several documents and screenshots as my valid proof the only response I received was the loan through their technology partners organization Blueacorn I stated that nothing on my loan documentation shows anything about a Blueacorn but does show that Prestamos CDFI LLC is my lender. Ive recently taken out a separate business loan in the amount of what my ppp loan was to cover business things so I went ahead and applied for the Forgiveness and Prestamos accepted it and sent it to the sba. Only way to apply for forgiveness is by being approved and funds disbursed. I still havent received any of those funds from Prestamos CDFI LLC and theyre lacking important communication.” (Sept. 22, 2021 post)

- xx. “I applied for my second PPP loan with XXXX. XXXX farmed this loan request along with about XXXX other loans to Prestamos XXXX, XXXX. After hurdles, jumping through hoops, I received SBA approval and was provided loan documents that were signed and supposedly legally binding. Those documents were provided by XXXX on XX/XX/XXXX by way of Prestamos to sign. I was advised on XX/XX/XXXX by my bank XXXX, that the funds in the amount of {$3200.00} were being returned to Prestamos XXXX. I knew this was going to happen and attempted to update my bank information prior to the money being returned but was denied. Ultimately the money was returned. I immediately attempted to reach out to both the lender and the third party XXXX. Prestamos completely wiped their hands of the matter. Despite having contractually entered into a loan with myself, and then, LYING TO THE GOVERNMENT in having public record reflect the above, that I had the loan funded and the funds were dispersed to me. The funds that were supposed to be designated for me and reissued, as any lender would clearly do, are MIA. I have documentation on top of documentation of this whole ordeal to demonstrate that despite currently being legally bound to a loan that has been accruing interest since XX/XX/XXXX, the lender has not once reached out to myself or the SBA to correct the information.” (July 30, 2021 consumer complaint excerpt).

374. Further, although Prestamos states on its website that it maintains an office in Santa Fe, New Mexico (see Prestamos CDFI, Prestamos Locations, available at <https://www.prestamosloans.org/locations/> (last visited May 1, 2022)), Plaintiffs were advised that office may not even exist.

375. Plaintiffs are unaware whether Prestamos has retained or has spent or disbursed any such funds for any other purpose, although discovery is ongoing. Plaintiffs are pursuing and anticipate obtaining further information in discovery regarding the status of the SBA-approved but unfunded PPP loan proceeds at issue that were pledged by Prestamos to secure advances from the PPPLF on a dollar-for-dollar basis via the PPP loans of Plaintiffs and class members. Prestamos has also belatedly sought to fund certain class member borrowers following the filing of plaintiffs' original complaint on October 1, 2021, although these borrowers have still incurred lost opportunity and other damages to their businesses due to Prestamos' failure to timely fund their loans.

Class Action Allegations

376. Plaintiffs bring this action individually and on behalf of the following damages class pursuant to Rules 23(a) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (the "Damages Class"):

Damages Class: all persons and entities in California, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Missouri, Illinois, Washington, Michigan, Nevada, Ohio, Arizona, Colorado, Utah, Texas, Indiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma and New York (collectively, the "Class Member States") who, in 2021, applied for PPP loans with defendant Prestamos as the lender for whom the SBA provided a SBA loan number, and who executed and submitted their Loan Documents and provided to Prestamos all required loan documentation, but as to whom Prestamos both failed to disburse the PPP loan proceeds and reported to the SBA that the loan proceeds were disbursed.

377. Plaintiffs also bring this action individually and on behalf of the following declaratory judgment class pursuant to Rules 23(a) and (b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (the “Declaratory Judgment Class”):

Declaratory Judgment Class: all persons and entities in the Class Member States who, in 2021, applied for PPP loans with defendant Prestamos as the lender for whom the SBA provided a SBA loan number, and who executed and submitted their Loan Documents and provided to Prestamos all required loan documentation, but as to whom Prestamos both failed to disburse the PPP loan proceeds and reported to the SBA that the loan proceeds were disbursed.

378. Excluded from the Classes are Prestamos, CPLC, any entities in which Prestamos or CPLC has a controlling interest, Defendants’ agents and employees, any Judge to whom this action is assigned, and any member of such Judge’s staff and immediate family.

379. There is a well-defined community of interest among members of the Classes, and the disposition of their claims in a single action will benefit the parties and the Court.

380. The proposed Classes meet each applicable requirement of FED. R. CIV. P. 23.

381. Numerosity: According to discovery produced to date, there are 7,907 total members of the Classes representing undisbursed PPP loan proceeds totaling $133,562,175.00 for which Prestamos was nevertheless paid by the SBA $19,259,141.00 in total loan processing fees in only the following 10 of 17 total Class Member States: California, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Missouri, Illinois, Washington, Michigan, Nevada, Ohio and Arizona. The Class Member States include only states in which Plaintiffs reside or were injured by Prestamos’ failure to fund their PPP loans consistent with the Court’s ruling granting in part and denying in part Prestamos’ motion to dismiss. See Marshall v. Prestamos CDFI, LLC, Civil No. 5:21-cv-04337-JMG, 2023 WL 2727541, at *7 (E.D. Pa. March 30, 2023) (“Named Plaintiffs do not have standing to bring their claims under the laws of states in which they do not reside or were never injured.”).

382. In particular, the forgoing 10 Class Member State totals include 2,067 class members in California for total undisbursed PPP loan proceeds of $34,036,403.00 and total loan fees to Prestamos of $5,031,569.00; 887 in Pennsylvania for total PPP loan proceeds of $15,371,021.00 and total loan fees of $2,186,908.50; 65 in Connecticut for total PPP loan proceeds of $992,675.00 and total loan fees of $154,109.00; 286 in Missouri for total PPP loan proceeds of $4,381,165.00 and total loan fees of $670,893.50; 1,167 in Illinois for total PPP loan proceeds of $21,625,815.00 and total loan fees of $2,873,502.50; 145 in Washington for total PPP loan proceeds of $2,008,690.00 and total loan fees of $341,391.00; 1,489 in Michigan for total PPP loan proceeds of $25,682,015.00 and total loan fees of $3,648,452.50; 565 in Nevada for total PPP loan proceeds of $9,231,212.00 and total loan fees of $1,369,612.00; 892 in Ohio for total PPP loan proceeds of $14,941,556.00 and total loan fees of $2,167,283.50; and 344 in Arizona for total PPP loan proceeds of $5,291,623.00 and total loan fees of $815,419.50. Accordingly, joinder of all members is impracticable based on the total number of class members and the total number of class members in each of the respective 10 Class Member States pursuant to Rule 23(a)(1).

383. In addition to the foregoing 10 Class Member States, Plaintiffs have requested in discovery that Prestamos also produce the class member data for the remaining seven Class Member States of Colorado, Utah, Texas, Indiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma and New York. Five of those additional Class Member States (Colorado, Utah, Texas, Indiana and Mississippi) were alleged by the plaintiffs in the original complaint filed in Drevnak, et al v. Prestamos CDFI, LLC, Case No. 5:23-cv-02777 (ECF No. 1), and that discovery has long been requested and remains pending. Plaintiffs have also added in this TAC plaintiffs from two additional states Oklahoma (plaintiff Grichar) and New York (plaintiff Horne). Although Prestamos has yet to produce class member data for these seven additional states (and Plaintiffs necessarily reserve all rights including to move to compel based on the Court's procedures absent timely production of that data), Plaintiffs expect that discovery will further show that joinder of class members in these seven remaining Class Member States is similarly impracticable pursuant to Rule 23(a)(1).

384. The number and identities of members of the proposed Classes can be determined only with discovery of Prestamos' applicable PPP records, including without limitation Prestamos' PPPLF Advance Request Forms, Prestamos' SBA Form 1502 initial and subsequently-filed monthly reports concerning each applicable Class member PPP loan, and Prestamos' bank records.

385. Prestamos was required to timely and accurately file SBA Form 1502 reports monthly for each PPP loan. Although Prestamos objected to producing to Plaintiffs in this case any SBA Form 1502 reports (and Pledge and Advance Request Forms) on alleged grounds that they were "irrelevant" (ECF No. 78 at 4; "the [SBA] Form 1502 reports ... and PARs are irrelevant to Plaintiffs' breach of contract claim") which required Plaintiffs to seek the Court's intervention (ECF No. 76), in fact both SBA forms are highly material.

386. The SBA required lenders to file the Form 1502 reports on a monthly basis to identify the status of each PPP loan. More specifically, pursuant to § 5 of the SBA Form 1502, Prestamos was required to identify both the "Amt Disbursed this Period on Total Loan" and, pursuant to § 6 of that Form, the "Amt Undisbursed on Total Loan: Of the total approved amount (100% amount), the amount that has not been disbursed by the lender as of the month ending date. If fully disbursed, leave blank." (emphasis in original). See <https://www.sba.gov/document/sba-form-1502-sba-form-1502-instructions> (last visited April 26, 2024). Similarly, subsection 9 of § 4 of the Form 1502 required Prestamos to also identify the status of each PPP loan, including if applicable as it was in the case of the PPP loans of Plaintiffs and Class members, “Status 9: Fully Undisbursed – loan that has not had any disbursements made to the borrower. ... Report Status Code 9 and indicate the Amount Undisbursed on Total Loan, until such time that the loan is disbursed.” (emphasis in original). See Id.

387. In addition, the PPPLF Pledge and Advance Request Form required Prestamos to “pledg[e], on behalf of the Borrower [i.e., Prestamos], the SBA Pool below as collateral to secure an advance that the Borrower hereby requests be made pursuant to the PPPLF under the terms and conditions of the PPPLF Letter of Agreement” and to identify, as to each PPP loan, the “10-Digit SBA Loan Number”; the “Small Business Borrower Name”; the “Original Par Amount”; the “Current Outstanding Principal Balance”; the “Maturity Date”; the “Interest Next Due Date”; the “Principal Next Due Date”; and other information. See https://www.frbdiscountwindow.org/generalpages/ppplf_historical_documentation (last visited Jan. 9, 2024).

388. The PPPLF Letter of Agreement, in turn, states that, “[b]y pledging PPP loans as collateral for Advances under the Facility ... the Borrower [i.e., Prestamos] warrants, represents and covenants that each such Item pledged as collateral for Advances under the Facility: (a) is a ‘covered loan’ ... (b) Complies with all requirements of the PPP, including without limitation any rules or guidance issued by the SBA implementing the PPP, and any requirements set forth in any agreement the Borrower is required to execute by the SBA in connection with the PPP” See https://www.frbdiscountwindow.org/-/media/Documents/PPPLFLetter-of-Agreement.docx?sc_lang=en&hash=FB7079AEFE245A4DAC32F78E0125725C (last visited April. 9, 2024).

389. The applicable PPP rules include the Form 1502 reports, the Pledge and Advance Request Forms, and the SBA’s loan funding rule discussed above. See 86 FR 3692, 3710. Further, additional rules of the SBA govern a lender’s obligation to disburse PPP loans and timely and accurately report to the SBA regarding each such loan.

390. For example, the SBA’s rules also state that “[l]enders must electronically upload SBA Form 1502 information within 20 calendar days after a PPP loan is approved. The lender must report on SBA Form 1502 whether it has fully disbursed PPP loan proceeds.” 86 FR 3692, 3709 (emphasis added).

391. Similarly, the SBA Procedural Notice effective February 8, 2021 entitled “Second Updated Paycheck Protection Program Lender Processing Fee Payment and 1502 Reporting Process” shortened the lender’s deadline to upload the Form 1502 information to “within 10 calendar days after disbursement of a PPP loan”; stated that “Lenders must submit a complete and accurate 1502 report”; and stated that “PPP loans must be fully disbursed, and the amount reported in this field must match the loan approval amount in SBA’s electronic system.” See Second Updated Paycheck Protection Program Lender Processing Fee Payment and 1502 Reporting Process | U.S. Small Business Administration \(sba.gov\) at 4-5 (emphasis added).

392. Further, and also per that February 8, 2021 SBA Procedural Notice, before the SBA would pay a loan processing fee to the lender, the lender “must make a one-time confirmation” that “all First Draw Loans and Second Draw Loans included in the report were fully disbursed to the borrowers on the disbursement dates entered and in the loan amounts entered in the report, and ... all information in the report is true and correct[.]” See Id. at 6 (emphasis added).

393. Thus, whether Prestamos disbursed the SBA-approved loan proceeds to the borrower is a binary question answerable classwide based on Prestamos' records and the plain meaning of that term. See <https://www.merriam-webster.com> (defining disbursement as "the act of paying out money especially from a fund" and "funds paid out"). Prestamos' Form 1502 reports identify the PPP borrowers it reported to the SBA to whom it purportedly "fully disbursed" or did not disburse the loan proceeds. Prestamos' bank records (which Plaintiffs have subpoenaed) including presumably its monthly bank statements, should identify which of those PPP borrowers it did not truly "fully disburse" the loan proceeds, thereby identifying each Class member.

394. Ascertainability: The names and addresses of members of the Classes are available from defendant Prestamos' records as discussed in the context of numerosity above, and thus the Classes are ascertainable. Notice can be provided to the members of the Damages Class pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2)(B) through direct electronic and other mailing, publication, or otherwise using techniques and forms of notice similar to those customarily used in class action litigation. While notice is not required for the Declaratory Judgment Class but is instead subject to the Court's discretion under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2)(A), because the members of both Classes include the same unfunded borrowers, notice of certification of the Declaratory Judgment Class can be provided to its members as part of the notice to them of the certification of the Damages Class, if and as the Court may direct.

395. Typicality: Plaintiffs' claims are based on the same facts and legal theories as those of the other members of the Classes which Plaintiffs seek to represent pursuant to Rule 23(a)(3). Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes all similarly applied for PPP loans, had their loans approved by the SBA, submitted to Prestamos all requested loan documentation, and Prestamos failed to disburse to them their PPP loan proceeds despite the parties' loan contracts and despite falsely reporting to the SBA that it had disbursed those loans. Whatever reasons Defendants may argue regarding why Prestamos failed to do so, Prestamos' bottom line failure to disburse PPP loans to Plaintiffs and all Class members while also falsely reporting to the SBA that it did disburse the loans is shared equally by all Plaintiffs and Class members. Thus, Plaintiffs and all Class members have also suffered similar injury and been injured by the same core course of conduct. Plaintiffs and Class members also similarly share an interest in determining the parties' respective rights and obligations arising from Prestamos' failure to disburse the loans and false reporting to the SBA about them.

396. Rule 23(a)(3) requires that "the claims or defenses of the representative parties are typical of the claims or defenses of the class[.]" Here, the central claims at issue -- to wit, whether Prestamos' failure to disburse the loans to Plaintiffs breached legal duties Prestamos owed to the Plaintiffs, and the parties' respective rights and obligations resulting from Prestamos' failure to disburse those loans -- are shared equally by Plaintiffs and the Classes. Prestamos failed to disburse the SBA-approved loan proceeds to all Plaintiffs and Class members, falsely reported to the SBA that it disbursed the loans, and all Plaintiffs and Class members nevertheless remain bound under the same standard form Note and accompanying Loan Document contracts to pay the loans back to Prestamos, with interest, despite never receiving the loan proceeds.

397. In CPF, 2023 WL 5746927, at *7, the Court found based on the factual record there that "Plaintiffs' differing circumstances ... implicate different defenses" because one plaintiff had his loan cancelled, one plaintiff was allegedly funded, and the other plaintiffs' banks rejected and returned the funds. Here, in contrast, none of Plaintiffs' loans was cancelled or funded and any individualized issues pertaining to Prestamos' attempt to fund the loans or returned loan proceeds is irrelevant as a matter of law, because Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had disbursed the loans to each Plaintiff and class member. By definition under the narrowed Classes alleged here, all of Plaintiffs' and the class members' loans were misreported by Prestamos to the SBA as actually being disbursed when in fact the loans were not disbursed.

398. Additionally, the definition of the proposed Classes in this case has also been narrowed from the class alleged in CPF to include only class members who provided to Prestamos all required loan documentation. Thus, Plaintiffs will not "be left fending off divergent factual defenses" regarding any aspect of the PPP paperwork process in this case that the Court found present in CPF. Id.

399. Further, in CPF the Court found that the "[t]he central question ... is whether CPF failed to fund Plaintiffs' loans or timely cancel them." Id., at *5 (emphasis added). Here, by contrast, Plaintiffs' claims are not premised on loan cancellation (timely or otherwise), but instead Prestamos' failure to ultimately disburse the loans without regard to whether Prestamos tried to do so or failed to timely or otherwise cancel them.

400. Specifically, defenses that Prestamos may claim to raise individualized issues, such as purported bank rejections of loan proceeds at issue in CPF, would not defeat typicality in this case even if they exist. Whether any class member's bank rejected the loan proceeds carries no legal significance for the typicality analysis here. By the narrowed class definition here, Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA it had funded Class member loans to get the loan processing fee when in fact it failed to fund those loans. Further, Prestamos cannot reasonably evade liability or class certification based on the argument an attempt to fund the loans shields Prestamos, or represents compliance or substantial compliance with the parties' Loan Documents such that Prestamos did not breach those agreements. In this case, Prestamos represented to the SBA that it had in fact disbursed the loan proceeds to Plaintiffs and all class members, not just that it had attempted to do so. Thus, under the PPP, the doctrine of quasi-estoppel and additional equitable principles, Prestamos is bound by its false representations to the SBA that it had funded Plaintiffs' and Class member loans. Consequently, Prestamos should be estopped from now reversing gears and instead claiming to the contrary, or that any unsuccessful attempt to fund Plaintiffs' or Class members' PPP loans requires individualized inquiry that defeats typicality under Rule 23(a)(3) or otherwise immunizes Prestamos.

401. As alleged above, the PPP rules unambiguously required disbursement of SBA-approved PPP loans and accurate reporting by lenders in the Pledge and Advance Requests and SBA Form 1502 forms for each loan. Even assuming certain of Plaintiffs' banks rejected the loan proceeds and quasi-estoppel and other equitable principles do not render that fact legally irrelevant, there is no “danger that the attention to this individual defense might harm the class” as the court found in CPF. See CPF, 2023 WL 5746927, at *7 (citation omitted). To the contrary, if Prestamos is permitted to pick off any Plaintiff or Class member based on any purported individualized defense -- and in circumstances where it should be precluded from doing so because, by definition of the Classes here, it lied to the SBA by representing the loans were funded -- the danger to the Classes here would be far greater, i.e., no chance at any relief, because there would be no class. As noted above, even if Prestamos attempted to fund a class member loan, Prestamos' bank records should show on an undisputed basis to which class members it made successful and unsuccessful attempts to fund their loan proceeds, such that their identification will not become the litigation's focus in any event.

402. Adequacy: Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately represent the interests of the members of the Classes pursuant to Rule 23(a)(4). Plaintiffs are adequate representatives of the Classes as their interests align with the interests of the members of the Classes, and Plaintiffs are represented by counsel experienced in class actions, including financial consumer and other class action litigation. Plaintiffs and all Class members share the same core claims and have no interests antagonistic to or in conflict with those of the Classes.

403. Superiority as to the Damages Class: The class action alleged in this case is superior to all other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the claims asserted for the Damages Class because the expense and burden of individual litigation make it economically infeasible for members of the Damages Class to seek to redress their claims other than through a class action; if separate actions were brought by individual members of the Damages Class, that could lead to differing and inconsistent adjudications; and, absent a class action, Prestamos is unlikely to be held accountable for both its failure to actually fund SBA-approved PPP loans and its repeated lying to the SBA that it did fund those loans to get the fee, deny Plaintiffs and class members any ability to obtain loan proceeds, loan forgiveness or any other relief, and leave them nevertheless obligated to repay to Prestamos loan proceeds with interest for loans they never received.

404. In CPF, the Court held that superiority was not present “[g]iven the divergent factual scenarios present in th[at] case.” CPF, 2023 WL 5746927, at *8. Based on the record there, the Court stated that “[t]he central question in th[at] case ... is whether CPF failed to fund Plaintiffs’ loans or timely cancel them.” Id. at *5 (emphasis added). As explained above, that is not the case here. Cancellation is not relevant in this case based on the class definition in this case. Unsuccessful attempts to deliver loan proceeds are not relevant because Prestamos falsely represented to the SBA that it had successfully funded the loans and thereby collected loan fees to which it was not legally entitled, and because of quasi-estoppel and other equitable principles. And the proposed Damages Class as explicitly defined in this case includes only those who returned to Prestamos all required loan documentation, again distinguishing this case from CPF. Thus, the only facts relevant here are whether Prestamos did or did not fund the loans, and whether it represented to the SBA that it had fully disbursed the loans that it failed to successfully fund -- all of which raise classwide issues answerable in a single stroke.

405. Class certification is superior to other available methods to fairly and efficiently adjudicate this case because the three central questions here are: (1) Prestamos' failure to fund Plaintiffs' and Class members' loans (regardless of whether Prestamos also failed to timely or otherwise cancel them), (2) Prestamos' false representations to the SBA that it had disbursed the loan proceeds to Plaintiffs' and Class members, and (3) the parties' respective rights and obligations arising therefrom, particularly concerning the ongoing obligation also shared equally by all Plaintiffs and Class members to repay to Prestamos loans plus interest on loan proceeds they never received and their inability to even apply for, let alone obtain, loan forgiveness as was widely accorded to PPP borrowers who were actually funded.

406. Class certification here is superior and indeed the only practical way for class members to get relief also because individualized, separate lawsuits are not economically viable. Plaintiffs' and other Damages Class members' SBA-approved PPP loan amounts were for substantially less than $50,000 each; in Plaintiffs' specific cases, they ranged between $1,250 (plaintiff Drevnak) to $20,823 (plaintiffs Holland, Ahmadou, Beattie, Lloyd and Johnson) as alleged above.

407. Even assuming Plaintiffs were to prevail in establishing liability in full and obtain consequential and other potential damages, the amounts at stake render prosecution of individual (i.e., non-class action) claims highly impractical and unlikely given the costs of litigation alone. Presumably for that reason, Plaintiffs are unaware of any other breach of contract or other individual (i.e., non-class action) lawsuits by any other SBA-approved but unfunded borrower against Prestamos in any other court in the country, past or present, and despite the indisputable existence of thousands of other such unfunded borrowers. Even if hundreds or thousands of class members could practically bring individual actions, that would not be superior to a class action because of the unnecessary burden it would place on the court system in potentially adjudicating the same core facts over and over and the risk of potentially inconsistent adjudication.

408. Accordingly, it is highly likely as a practical matter that only this Court can provide relief for these unfunded borrowers who nevertheless remain bound to repay Prestamos.

409. In sum, the expense and burden of individual litigation for the Damages Class makes it economically unfeasible for members of the Damages Class to seek to redress their claims other than through a class action; if separate actions were brought by individual members of the Damages Class, the resulting duplicity of lawsuits could lead to differing and inconsistent adjudications; and, absent a class action, Prestamos is unlikely to be held accountable for its failure to fund the applicable SBA-approved PPP loans at issue and its false representations to the SBA that it funded the loans.

410. Commonality as to Both Classes and Predominance as to the Damages Class: Although Rule 23(a)(2) requires that “questions of law or fact” (emphasis added) be common to the class, here there are common questions of both law and fact; the common questions concern both the claims and even certain of Prestamos’ core defenses; and those common questions of law and fact predominate over any questions which affect individual members of the Damages Class under Rule 23(b)(3) (Rule 23(b)(2) does not require that common questions predominate as to the Declaratory Judgment Class).

411. Common questions of law and fact include, but are not limited to:

- a. whether defendant Prestamos failed to fund SBA-approved PPP loans to Plaintiffs and other members of the Classes in breach of its obligations to actually fund such loans;
- b. whether Prestamos obtained fees for PPP loans that it did not make;
- c. whether Prestamos upstreamed to CPLC PPP loan processing fees on the PPP loans of Plaintiffs and the members of the proposed Classes;
- d. whether Prestamos' failure to fund SBA-approved PPP loans violated the Loan Documents it entered into with Plaintiffs and other members of the Classes;
- e. whether Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that it had disbursed the SBA-approved PPP loan proceeds to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes;
- f. whether the Loan Documents created a binding obligation on Prestamos to fund the PPP loans of Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;
- g. whether the Loan Documents are negotiable instruments;
- h. whether the release in the parties' standard form Note included in the Loan Documents violates public policy and thus is void as the court held in CPF regarding the same release (see Greathouse v. Capital Plus Financial LLC, No. 4:22-CV-0686-P, 2023 WL 5759250, at * (N. D. Tex. Sept. 6, 2023) ("Thus, the exculpatory clause is void."));
- i. whether Prestamos' corporate parent, CPLC, was Prestamos' alter ego for purposes of Prestamos' PPP lending;
- j. whether Prestamos' failure to disburse the PPP loans damaged Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class and, if so, the proper measure of those damages; and
- k. whether Prestamos should be precluded as a matter of law from seeking or obtaining any money or other relief, whether payment or repayment of principal, interest or attorneys' fees or other costs, from Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes in connection with their PPP loans with Prestamos, including any action that negatively impacts their credit rating.

412. In sum, common questions predominate here because the claims of Plaintiffs and the Classes are sufficiently cohesive to warrant adjudication by representation.

413. Breach of contract cases frequently lend themselves to class treatment. PPP lenders were also able to use their own form note or make modifications to the SBA form for PPP lending, but Prestamos instead used the same standard form SBA note uniformly and classwide which further supports both commonality and predominance.

414. Further, in this case, the Classes include only those who were approved by the SBA for their loans, completed and returned the loan documentation in full, still were not funded by Prestamos, but Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that the loans were funded. Accordingly, no individualized defenses regarding “why a loan was not funded” exist in this case that would defeat a finding of predominance. Even if such individualized defenses existed regarding attempted funding, Prestamos falsely reported to the SBA that the class member loans were all funded. Hence, the predominantly common factual and legal issues that will be the focus of trial concern Prestamos’ failure to disburse the loans to Plaintiffs and Class members who qualified fully for those loans, Prestamos’ false reporting otherwise, and the parties’ respective rights as a consequence, not Prestamos’ attempts to fund any loan.

415. Finally, damages for the Damages Class are capable of measurement on a classwide basis. Damages in this case are most fundamentally measurable from, and based on, the SBA-approved PPP loan amounts.

416. Certification of the Declaratory Judgment Class: Class certification of the Declaratory Judgment Class is appropriate pursuant to Rules 23(a) and (b)(2). In particular, each requirement of Rule 23(a) is satisfied as alleged above. Further, declaratory judgment relief is appropriate for the Declaratory Judgment Class as a whole pursuant to Rule 23(b)(2) because Prestamos has acted and refused to act on grounds that apply classwide such that injunctive or corresponding declaratory relief is appropriate respecting the Declaratory Judgment Class as a whole, and thus the Court should declare specifically that:

- a. the Loan Documents and PPP rules bound Prestamos to disburse the PPP loans to Plaintiffs and class members and report accurately to the SBA regarding the status of those loans;
- b. the release in the parties' standard form note included in the Loan Documents violates public policy and thus is void;
- c. Prestamos is estopped or otherwise precluded on grounds of equity from evading liability or class certification based on any mere attempt to fund Plaintiffs' or any class members' loans, because it falsely reported to the SBA that it did fund the loans and obtained loan fees based on those false reports; and
- d. that Prestamos is also precluded as a matter of law from seeking or obtaining any money or other relief, whether payment or repayment of principal, interest or attorneys' fees or other costs, from Plaintiffs and class members in connection with their PPP loans with Prestamos, including any action that negatively impacts their credit rating.

417. Plaintiffs reserve the right to amend the definition of the Classes if discovery or further investigation reveals that the definition of the Classes should be amended.

COUNT ONE

Breach of Contract (On Behalf of All Plaintiffs and the Classes)

418. Plaintiffs incorporate the allegations from all previous paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

419. This Count is brought against both Defendants.

420. The standard form promissory Note and accompanying Loan Documents that defendant Prestamos and the members of the Classes entered into are binding, enforceable agreements.

421. Among other provisions, the Note identifies the specific PPP loan, SBA loan number and amount of the loan; specifies that the parties to the Note are, respectively, the Class member borrower and the “Lender” Prestamos; provides that, “[i]n return for the Loan, Borrower promises to pay to the order of the Lender” the principal amount of the PPP loan plus “interest on the unpaid principle balance, and all other amounts required by this Note” if not forgiven; contains other PPP loan repayment terms and events of default and the lender’s rights in the event of the borrower’s default; contains other provisions, including that “[a]ll individuals and entities signing this Note are jointly and severally liable”; and, as to each Plaintiff and member of the Classes, states that, “[b]y signing below, each individual or entity becomes obligated under this Note as Borrower.”

422. In addition, the Additional Agreement that accompanies the promissory Note between the Plaintiff Class member borrowers and defendant Prestamos provides additional terms and states, at the outset, explicitly as follows:

“In consideration of Prestamos CDFI, LLC, located at 1024 E. Buckeye RD, Suite 270, Phoenix, AZ 85034, (hereinafter called ‘Lender’) making the above loan, each of the undersigned, jointly and severally, do hereby agree as follows”

423. The Loan Document contracts entered into by Prestamos and the members of the Plaintiff borrower Classes also include a “Notice - No Oral Agreements” document. That document governs the “Loan by Lender, Prestamos CDFI, LLC to Borrower”; identifies each Class member borrower and the SBA-approved amount of the loan; states that “THE WRITTEN LOAN AGREEMENT REPRESENTS THE FINAL AGREEMENT

BETWEEN THE PARTIES AND MAY NOT BE CONTRADICTED BY EVIDENCE OF PRIOR, CONTEMPORANEOUS, OR SUBSEQUENT ORAL AGREEMENTS OF THE

PARTIES"; states that the "'Loan Agreement' means one or more promises, promissory notes, agreements, undertakings, security agreements, deeds of trust or other documents or commitments, or any combination of those actions or documents, pursuant to which a financial institution loans or delays repayment of or agrees to loan or delay repayment of money, goods, or another thing of value or to otherwise extend credit or make a financial accommodation"; and is executed by both Prestamos via its President Martinez, and each Plaintiff and Class member borrower.

424. A complete copy of one such standard form Loan Document is attached to this Amended Complaint as Exhibit A (with only plaintiff Marshall's Social Security and bank account number redacted).

425. Through its agreement to make PPP loans via the Loan Documents, its acceptance and approval of Plaintiffs' PPP loan applications, and as the counterparty to the Loan Documents, defendant Prestamos entered into a binding agreement with each of the Plaintiffs and the members of the proposed Classes to fund their respective PPP loans.

426. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes gave consideration that was fair and reasonable, and have performed all conditions, covenants, and promises required to be performed under their Loan Documents with defendant Prestamos.

427. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes kept their end of the bargain by providing all documents and information requested by defendant Prestamos. Defendant Prestamos failed to complete its end of the bargain by failing to make the PPP loans to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes although it falsely reported to the SBA that it did disburse the loans.

428. Further, defendant Prestamos had an implied duty to act in good faith and in accordance with fair dealing to take all steps necessary to fund the Plaintiffs' and the other Class members' PPP loans pursuant to the Loan Documents.

429. Defendant Prestamos breached its obligations to fund Plaintiffs' and Class members' PPP loans under the Loan Documents by failing to fund the loans within 10 days of the SBA's approval of the loans and assignment of loan numbers, or at any time thereafter.

430. Defendant Prestamos' failure to properly fund the loans of Plaintiffs and the members of the Class also breached its obligations under the Additional Agreement that, "[i]n consideration of Prestamos ... making the above loan, each of the undersigned, jointly and severally, do hereby agree as follows: ..."; the term in the Notice - No Oral Agreements that the "Loan by Lender, Prestamos CDFI, LLC to Borrower ... in the amount of $... REPRESENTS THE FINAL AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE PARTIES AND MAY NOT BE CONTRADICTED BY EVIDENCE OF PRIOR, CONTEMPORANEOUS, OR SUBSEQUENT ORAL AGREEMENTS OF THE PARTIES"; and the term in the Notice - No Oral Agreements that the "'Loan Agreement' means one or more promises, promissory notes, agreements, undertakings, security agreements, deeds of trust or other documents or commitments, or any combination of those actions or documents, pursuant to which a financial institution loans or delays repayment of or agrees to loan or delay repayment of money, goods, or another thing of value or to otherwise extend credit or make a financial accommodation."

431. By failing to fund the SBA-approved loans of Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, defendant Prestamos not only breached the terms of the Loan Documents as alleged, but also failed to perform the central purpose of the parties' agreement which was to timely and properly fund these SBA-approved loans.

432. Moreover, all PPP loan applications require applicants to certify that they have not, and will not, receive other PPP loans as alleged more fully above.

433. As a result, once Plaintiffs and the other members of the Classes applied for PPP loans and their loan applications were approved by the SBA and assigned PPP loan numbers pursuant to the Loan Documents, Plaintiffs and the Class members were no longer able to apply for PPP loans with other PPP lenders as they would not be able to certify that they would not receive another PPP loan, also as alleged more fully above.

434. Plaintiffs and the Class members were therefore effectively "stuck" with, and had to rely exclusively on, defendant Prestamos to actually provide them with the PPP loan funds that they needed and that the SBA had already approved.

435. For its part, defendant CPLC controlled and directed Prestamos' PPP lending activities and failure to fund the SBA-approved loans of Plaintiffs and the other members of the Classes; controlled and dominated defendant Prestamos' Board of Directors and senior leadership; referred to the companies in their PPP lending activities as one and the same; caused Prestamos to upstream to CPLC PPP loan processing fees including on PPP loans Prestamos was obligated to fund but failed to fund; and served as Prestamos' alter ego in failing to fund the SBA-approved loans of Plaintiffs and the members of the Class all as alleged more fully above, and is therefore also liable for breach of contract.

436. As a result, Defendants harmed Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes in an amount to be determined at trial, but not less than the amount of the wrongfully withheld PPP loan proceeds plus all other applicable damages to the full extent permissible by law.

Prayer for Relief

Plaintiffs, individually and on behalf of the proposed Classes, respectfully request the following relief:

- A. certifying the Damages Class pursuant to Rules 23(a) and (b)(3) and the Declaratory Judgment Class pursuant to Rules 23(a) and (b)(2) and naming Plaintiffs as representatives of the Damages Class and the Declaratory Judgment Class and naming Plaintiffs' attorneys as counsel for the Classes;
- B. judgment in favor of Plaintiffs and the Classes;
- C. an award including funding of the PPP loans of Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class and of compensatory, consequential and other damages in amounts to be determined at trial to the maximum extent permissible by law, plus prejudgment interest;
- D. a judgment under 28 U.S.C. § 2201 and Fed. R. Civ. P. 57 determining the parties' respective rights and obligations as alleged;
- E. an order awarding all other forms of monetary relief to Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class to the maximum extent permissible by law, including payment of all PPP loan proceeds owed and due with interest, as well as disgorgement of all fees Prestamos obtained in connection therewith to the maximum extent permissible by law;
- F. an order of equitable relief, in the alternative and to the extent that the breach of contract claim fails to adequately award Plaintiffs and the Damages Class members their damages for Defendants' violations, including injunctive relief directing Defendants to fund their SBA-approved loans in full with interest, or restitution in the amount of the wrongfully withheld PPP loan proceeds plus interest;

G. an award of punitive damages based on Prestamos' intentional, wanton and malicious conduct, or its reckless disregard of Plaintiffs' and the Damages Class members' rights, in amounts to be determined at trial to the maximum extent permissible by law;

H. an order awarding Plaintiffs and the Classes their reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses and costs of this lawsuit, including but not limited to expert fees and costs, to the maximum extent permissible by law;

I. an order awarding Plaintiffs and the Classes their reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses and costs of this lawsuit in connection with any applicable PPP loans Prestamos funded after the October 1, 2021 date that this litigation was filed that are fairly and reasonably attributable to Plaintiffs' filing and maintaining this litigation to the maximum extent permissible by law; and

J. such other relief as the Court may deem just and proper.

DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 38(b), Plaintiffs demand a trial by jury of any and all issues in this action so triable as of right.

Borrower may prepay this Note at any time without penalty. Borrower may prepay 20 percent or less of the unpaid principal balance at any time without notice. If Borrower prepays more than 20 percent and the Loan has been sold on the secondary market, Borrower must: a. Give Lender written notice; b. Pay all accrued interest; and c.
