PART IV. LEGAL ACTS, PROCEEDINGS AND TRANSACTIONS

CHAPTER 453. DEFECTS IN THE LEGAL TRANSACTION

§ 6232 Rescissory or paulian action

31 L.P.R.A. § 6232

The rescissory or paulian action is that which the creditor may bring to rescind the effects of a legal transaction carried out in fraud of their credit.

The judgment decreeing the rescission has the following effects:

- (a) Declares the legal transaction unenforceable against the creditor to the extent necessary to satisfy their credit; and
- (b) affects the acquirer of the asset disposed of in fraud of creditors, and the subacquirer, except if they act in good faith and acquire for valuable consideration.

The paulian action only benefits the plaintiff creditor.

In addition, with respect to real rights over immovables, they will be dealt with in accordance with the provisions of immovables registry legislation.
