

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE
WESTERN DISTRICT OF MISSOURI
WESTERN DIVISION

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff,

v.

CAMERON HENDERSON,

Defendant.

Case No. 23-00098-04-CR-W-BCW

GOVERNMENT’S SENTENCING MEMORANDUM

The United States of America, by and through its undersigned counsel, files its sentencing memorandum in this case. The government recommends a sentence of probation with a period of home confinement. The presentence report calculated the sentencing range from 4 to 10 months and mandatory restitution of $20,832.

PROCEDURAL AND FACTUAL BACKGROUND

On January 4, 2024, Defendant Cameron Henderson entered a plea of guilty to Count 5 of the indictment, wire fraud, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1343, before U.S. Magistrate Judge Counts. On January 19, 2024, the district court accepted the defendant’s plea of guilty. (PSR ¶¶ 1&2.) The maximum possible penalty for wire fraud is 20 years’ imprisonment. The defendant’s offense conduct is outlined in paragraphs 4 through 20 of the PSR.

The defendant was part of a group of individuals organized by Renetta Golden-Larimore to submit fraudulent Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) loans. Mr. Henderson, aided by Renetta Golden-Larimore, submitted an application which claimed he was the sole proprietor of a business that had gross revenues of $144,080 and net income of $99,982 in 2019. In fact, the defendant did not have such a business, and it did not have any revenues in the year prior to the pandemic. On June 11, 2021, the defendant received a $20,832 PPP loan. On June 14, 2021, the defendant made a Zelle $2000 payment to Renetta Golden-Larimore, and spent the remaining proceeds on personal expenses.

DISCUSSION

I. Sentencing Analysis

There are no outstanding objections to the presentence report and, therefore, the offense level would be 9, Criminal History Category I, resulting in a guideline range of 4 to 10 months. As this Court is aware, 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a) sets forth the factors to be considered in determining an appropriate sentence. In evaluating the appropriate sentence for this defendant, the United States notes the following:

Nature of the offense:

The defendant falsely applied for and received a $20,832 pandemic relief loan. These funds were intended to assist businesses that were impacted by the pandemic. While this amount is small compared to other pandemic relief fraud, the defendant should have been aware that this scheme was unlawful.

The history and characteristics of the defendant:

The defendant has one criminal history point for possession of marijuana, which continues to be an issue for the defendant.

Seriousness of the Offense, Deterrence, Protection, and Rehabilitation:

This was a serious offense and there is a need to deter the defendant and others from fraudulently taking advantage of emergency relief funds.

Sentencing:

As noted by the Court in United States v. Anderson, 664 F.3d 758, 764-765 (8th Cir. 2012), the analysis for reviewing the reasonableness of a sentence is well-settled:

We review substantive reasonableness for an abuse of discretion, “tak[ing] into account the totality of the circumstances, including the extent of any variance from the Guidelines range.” United States v. Feemster, 572 F.3d 455, 461 (8th Cir. 2009) (en banc) (quoting Gall v. United States, 552 U.S. 38, 51, 128 S. Ct. 586, 169 L.Ed.2d 445 (2007)). If a sentence is outside of the Guidelines range, “we ‘may consider the extent of the deviation, but must give due deference to the district court’s decision that the § 3553(a) factors, on a whole, justify the extent of the variance.’” Id. at 461–62 (quoting Gall, 552 U.S. at 51, 128 S. Ct. 586) “Just because we ‘might reasonably have concluded that a different sentence was appropriate is insufficient to justify reversal of the district court.’” Id. at 462 (quoting Gall, 552 U.S. at 51, 128 S. Ct. 586). “[I]t will be the unusual case when we reverse a district court sentence ... as substantively unreasonable.” Id. at 464 (quoting United States v. Gardellini, 545 F.3d 1089, 1090 (D.C. Cir. 2008)).

As noted by Judge Colloton in his concurrence in United States v. Burman, 666 F.3d 1113, 1120 (8th Cir. 2012) citing, Gall v. United States, 552 U.S. 38, 50-51, 128 S. Ct. 586 (2007), the “proper measure of reasonableness under § 3553(a) is not whether the variance from an advisory guideline range is reasonable, but whether the ultimate sentence is reasonable in light of the § 3553(a) factors taken as a whole.”

The issue presented to the Court then is what sentence is reasonable given the need to deter others who would engage in such illegal misappropriation of government emergency monies. The United States suggests that a reasonable sentence would be probation with a period of home detention.

A sentence within the guideline range would deter the defendant and send a message to others that such fraud schemes are unlawful and will be dealt with seriously by the United States District Court.
