Craig, this is moving too slowly. We need to start getting documents early this coming week to avoid us filing a 2004 motion.

Thanks

The team is still collecting documents. They are busy on deals, so they don't have an army to dedicate to the project but are taking it very seriously. We should start producing next week.

Craig, where do we stand? I'd like to avoid filing a motion but we need to get this going. We have a lot of stakeholders and they are pressing us.

Thanks very much.

Yes, I just got off a long call with the client to provide them with guidance on the production of documents. The plan is to produce on a rolling basis, so you guys start getting some materials. A litigation hold has also been implemented. I should have an update by Friday. Keep you posted and do not hesitate to contact me.
