Representative Basabe offered the following:

Amendment (with title amendment)

Between lines 285 and 286, insert:

Section 4. Section 553.845, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

553.845 Flood damage prevention.—

(1) The Legislature finds that:

(a) The state is vulnerable to the adverse effects of flooding resulting from the frequency and intensity of rainfall and an increase in storm surge and sea level rise. These adverse effects pose a significant risk to existing and future residential structures in the state.

(b) Public and private investments in our communities are important for economic growth, and protecting residential structures from flooding is essential to maintaining resilient communities.

(c) The mitigation of property damage constitutes a valid and recognized objective of the Florida Building Code.

(d) It is important to develop a consistent, statewide approach to minimizing flooding in the state to mitigate property damage and encourage continued investment in our communities.

(e) Minimum freeboard requirements are critical to addressing the devastating effects of flooding, and delaying the adoption and implementation of such requirements constitutes a threat to the health, safety, and welfare of the state.

(2) For purposes of this section, the term:

(a) "Coastal high-hazard area" means a special flood hazard area along the coast, as delineated by a Flood Insurance Rate Map issued by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, that has additional hazards due to wind and wave action.

(b) "Freeboard" means the additional height, usually expressed as a factor of safety in feet, above the base flood elevation in determining the level at which a structure's lowest floor or the bottom of the lowest horizontal structural member must be elevated in accordance with floodplain management regulations and the Florida Building Code. If a base flood elevation is not determined for a structure that is not located in a special flood hazard area as designated by a Flood Insurance Rate Map issued by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, the term "freeboard" means the highest adjacent grade at the foundation of a structure.

(c) "Maximum allowable height" means the maximum height allowed for a structure in the applicable zoning district.

(d) "Substantial improvement" has the meaning as in s. 161.54(12).

(e) "Voluntary freeboard" means the additional height above the freeboard required by floodplain management regulations and the Florida Building Code. If freeboard is not required by floodplain management regulations and the Florida Building Code, the term "voluntary freeboard" means the additional height above the highest adjacent grade at the foundation of a structure.

(3)(a) The maximum voluntary freeboard for all new residential construction and substantial improvements to existing residential construction is 4 feet.

(b) Within a coastal high-hazard area, the maximum voluntary freeboard for all new residential construction and substantial improvements to existing residential construction is 9 feet.

(4) For all new construction of a residential structure and substantial improvements to an existing residential structure, voluntary freeboard may not be used in the calculation of the maximum allowable height for the structure.

(5) A local government may adopt by ordinance a minimum freeboard requirement or a maximum voluntary freeboard that exceeds the requirements in the Florida Building Code or established in this section.

(6) The commission shall develop and adopt by rule minimum residential freeboard requirements by November 1, 2023, which shall take immediate effect, and shall incorporate such requirements into the next edition of the Florida Building Code.

(7) Beginning in January 2028, and every 5 years thereafter, the commission shall review the residential freeboard requirements in the Florida Building Code and make recommendations to the Legislature regarding any necessary revisions to such requirements.

Representative Maggard offered the following:

Substitute Amendment for Amendment (080461) by Representative Basabe (with title amendment)

Between lines 285 and 286, insert:

Section 4. Section 553.845, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

553.845 Flood damage prevention.—

(1) The Legislature finds that:

(a) The state is vulnerable to the adverse effects of flooding resulting from the frequency and intensity of rainfall and an increase in storm surge and sea level rise. These adverse effects pose a significant risk to existing and future residential structures in the state.

(b) Public and private investments in our communities are important for economic growth, and protecting residential structures from flooding is essential to maintaining resilient communities.

(c) The mitigation of property damage constitutes a valid and recognized objective of the Florida Building Code.

(d) It is important to develop a consistent, statewide approach to minimizing flooding in the state to mitigate property damage and encourage continued investment in our communities.

(e) Minimum voluntary freeboard requirements are critical to addressing the devastating effects of flooding, and delaying the adoption and implementation of such requirements constitutes a threat to the health, safety, and welfare of the state.

(2) For purposes of this section, the term:

(a) "Coastal high-hazard area" means a special flood hazard area along the coast, as delineated by a Flood Insurance Rate Map issued by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, that has additional hazards due to wind and wave action.

(b) "Freeboard" means the additional height, usually expressed as a factor of safety in feet, above the base flood elevation in determining the level at which a structure's lowest floor or the bottom of the lowest horizontal structural member must be elevated in accordance with floodplain management regulations and the Florida Building Code. If a base flood elevation is not determined for a structure that is not located in a special flood hazard area as designated by a Flood Insurance Rate Map issued by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, the term "freeboard" means the highest adjacent grade at the foundation of a structure.

(c) "Maximum allowable height" means the maximum height allowed for a structure in the applicable zoning district.

(d) "Substantial improvement" has the meaning as in s. 161.54(12).

(e) "Voluntary freeboard" means the additional height above the freeboard required by floodplain management regulations and the Florida Building Code. If freeboard is not required by floodplain management regulations and the Florida Building Code, the term "voluntary freeboard" means the additional height above the highest adjacent grade at the foundation of a structure.

(3)(a) The maximum voluntary freeboard for all new residential construction and substantial improvements to existing residential construction is 4 feet.

(b) Within a coastal high-hazard area, the maximum voluntary freeboard for all new residential construction and substantial improvements to existing residential construction is 9 feet.

(4) For all new construction of a residential structure and substantial improvements to an existing residential structure, voluntary freeboard may not be used in the calculation of the maximum allowable height for the structure.

(5) A local government may adopt by ordinance a maximum voluntary freeboard that exceeds the requirements in paragraph (3)(a).

Section 1. Subsections (9) through (24) of section 580.031, Florida Statutes, are renumbered as subsections (10) through (25), respectively, and subsection (9) is added to that section, to read:

580.031 Definitions of words and terms.—As used in this chapter, the term:

(9) "Dosage form animal product" means a feedstuff that includes any product intended to affect the structure or function of the animal's body other than by providing nutrition to the animal. The term includes oils, tinctures, capsules, tablets, liquids, and chewables. The term does not include a mineral or vitamin, a product represented as a primary meal for the intended animal species, any other product intended as a treat, or a dental product providing mechanical or abrasive action or both. This term also does not include drugs, biologics, parasiticides, medical devices, or diagnostics used to treat, or administered to, animals under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. Sec. 301 et seq.), as amended, by the United States Department of Agriculture under the federal Virus-Serum-Toxin Act (21 U.S.C. Sec. 151 et seq.), as amended, or by the United States Environmental Protection Agency under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (7 U.S.C. Sec. 136 et seq.), as amended.

Except as provided by law or rule, all terms used in connection with commercial feed or feedstuff have the meanings ascribed to them by the Association of American Feed Control Officials.

Section 2. Subsection (1) of section 580.051, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

580.051 Labels; requirements; penalty.—

(1) Any commercial feed or feedstuff distributed in this state, except a customer-formula feed and feed distributed through an integrated poultry operation or by a cooperative to its members, shall be accompanied by a legible label bearing all information required by the federal Food and Drug Administration and the following information:

(a) An accurate statement of the net weight.

(b) The name and principal address of the registrant.

(c) The brand name and product name, if any, under which the commercial feed is distributed. The word "medicated" shall be incorporated as part of the brand or product name if the commercial feed contains a drug.

1. The department may require feeding directions and precautionary statements to be placed on the label for the safe and effective use of medicated and other feed as deemed necessary.

2. Labels on medicated feed shall include all of the following:

a. Any feeding directions prescribed by the department to ensure safe usage.

b. The stated purpose of the medication contained in the feed as stated in the claim statement.

c. The established name of each active drug ingredient.

d. The level of each drug used in the final mixture expressed in metric units as well as the required avoirdupois.

(d) The date of manufacture or expiration date of commercial feed sold at retail as the department may by rule require.

(e) The guaranteed analysis stated in terms that advise the consumer of the composition of the feed or feedstuff or support claims made in the labeling. In all cases, the elements or compounds listed in the analysis must be determinable by laboratory methods approved by the department.

1. The guaranteed analysis, listing the minimum percentage of crude protein, minimum percentage of crude fat, and maximum percentage of crude fiber and, when more than 10 percent mineral ingredients are present, the minimum or maximum percentages of mineral elements or compounds as provided by rule.

2. Vitamin ingredients, when guaranteed, shall be shown in amounts and terms provided by rule. For mineral feed, the list shall include the following: maximum or minimum percentages of calcium (Ca), phosphorus (P), salt (NaCl), iron (Fe), copper (Cu), cobalt (Co), magnesium (Mg), manganese (Mn), potassium (K), selenium (Se), zinc (Zn), and fluorine (F) if ingredients used as sources of any of these constituents are declared. All mixtures that contain mineral or vitamin ingredients generally regarded as dietary factors essential for the normal nutrition of animals and that are sold or represented for the primary purpose of supplying these minerals or vitamins as additions to rations in which these same mineral or vitamin factors may be deficient shall be classified as mineral or vitamin supplements. Products sold solely as mineral or vitamin supplements and guaranteed as specified in this section need not show guarantees for protein, fat, and fiber.

3. Other nutritional substances or elements determinable by laboratory methods may be guaranteed by permission of, or shall be guaranteed at the request of, the department as may be provided by rule.

4. Products sold solely as a dosage form animal product and guaranteed as specified in this section need to not show a guaranteed analysis.

(f) The common or usual name of each ingredient used in the manufacture of the commercial feed; however, for all commercial feed except horse feed, the department by rule may permit the use of collective terms for a group of ingredients which perform a similar nutritional function.

(g) A label on a dosage form animal product must contain the following:

(a) Process the personal information of any child if the online platform has actual knowledge or willfully disregards that the processing may result in substantial harm or privacy risk to children.

(b) Profile a child unless both of the following criteria are met:

1. The online platform can demonstrate it has appropriate safeguards in place to protect children.

2. Either of the following is true:

a. Profiling is necessary to provide the online service, product, or feature requested and only with respect to the aspects of the online service, product, or feature with which the child is actively and knowingly engaged.

b. The online platform can demonstrate a compelling reason that profiling does not pose a substantial harm or privacy risk to children.

(c) Collect, sell, share, or retain any personal information that is not necessary to provide an online service, product, or feature with which a child is actively and knowingly engaged, or as described below, unless the online platform can demonstrate a compelling reason that the collecting, selling, sharing, or retaining of the personal information does not pose a substantial harm or privacy risk to children likely to routinely access the online service, product, or feature.

(d) Use personal information of a child for any reason other than a reason for which that personal information was collected, unless the online platform can demonstrate a compelling reason that use of the personal information does not pose a substantial harm or privacy risk to children.

(e) Collect, sell, or share any precise geolocation data of children unless the collection of that precise geolocation data is strictly necessary for the online platform to provide the service, product, or feature requested and then only for the limited time that the collection of precise geolocation data is necessary to provide the service, product, or feature.

(f) Collect any precise geolocation data of a child without providing an obvious sign to the child for the duration of that collection that precise geolocation data is being collected.

(g) Use dark patterns to lead or encourage children to provide personal information beyond what is reasonably expected to provide that online service, product, game, or feature, to forego privacy protections, or to take any action that the online platform has actual knowledge or willfully disregards may result in substantial harm or privacy risk to children.

(h) Use any personal information collected to estimate age or age range for any other purpose or retain that personal information longer than necessary to estimate age. Such age estimate shall be proportionate to the risks and data practice of an online service, product, or feature.

(3) If an online platform processes personal information pursuant to this section, the online platform bears the burden of demonstrating that such processing is not in violation of this section.

(4) An online platform that violates subsection (2) is subject to enforcement actions in s. 501.173, and such enforcement actions are the exclusive remedy. This section does not establish a private cause of action.

Dear Ms. Amie Marks,

Pursuant to House Rule 3.2(b) and in an abundance of caution, I am disclosing a potential conflict of interest related to my vote in support of HB 1547 in the Regulatory Reform and Economic Development Subcommittee on 3/28/2023. Specifically, my husband is employed by Amazon Corporation, and I believe that HB 1547, if adopted, may result in a special private loss for Amazon.

Sincerely,

Fiona McFarland

Amendment

Remove lines 14-130 and insert:

Section 1. Subsection (13) is added to section 501.173, Florida Statutes, as created by HB 1547, 2023 Regular Session, to read:

501.173 Consumer data privacy.—

(13) PUBLIC RECORDS EXEMPTION.—

(a) All information received by the department pursuant to a notification of a violation under this section, or received by the department pursuant to an investigation by the department or a law enforcement agency of a violation of this section or s. 501.1735, is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s.

24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution, until such time as the investigation is completed or ceases to be active. This exemption shall be construed in conformity with s. 119.071(2)(c).

(b) During an active investigation, information made confidential and exempt pursuant to paragraph (a) may be disclosed by the department:

1. In the furtherance of its official duties and responsibilities;

2. For print, publication, or broadcast if the department determines that such release would assist in notifying the public or locating or identifying a person that the department believes to be a victim of a data breach or improper use or disposal of customer records, except that information made confidential and exempt by paragraph (c) may not be released pursuant to this subparagraph; or

3. To another governmental entity in the furtherance of its official duties and responsibilities.

(c) Upon completion of an investigation or once an investigation ceases to be active, the following information received by the department shall remain confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution:

1. All information to which another public records exemption applies.

2. Personal information.

3. A computer forensic report.

4. Information that would otherwise reveal weaknesses in the data security of a controller, processor, or third party.

5. Information that would disclose the proprietary information of a controller, processor, or third party.

(d) For purposes of this subsection, the term "proprietary information" means information that:

1. Is owned or controlled by the controller, processor, or third party.

2. Is intended to be private and is treated by the controller, processor, or third party as private because disclosure would harm the controller, processor, or third party or its business operations.

3. Has not been disclosed except as required by law or a private agreement that provides that the information will not be released to the public.

4. Is not publicly available or otherwise readily ascertainable through proper means from another source in the same configuration as received by the department.

5. Includes:

a. Trade secrets as defined in s. 688.002.

b. Competitive interests, the disclosure of which would impair the competitive advantage of the controller, processor, or third party who is the subject of the information.

(e) This subsection is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act in accordance with s. 119.15 and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2028, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 2. The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity that all information received by the Department of Legal Affairs pursuant to a notification of a violation of s. 501.173 or s. 501.1735, Florida Statutes, or received by the department pursuant to an investigation by the department or a law enforcement agency of a violation of s. 501.173 or s. 501.1735, Florida Statutes, be made confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution for the following reasons:

(1) A notification of a violation of s. 501.173 or s. 501.1735, Florida Statutes, may result in an investigation of such violation. The premature release of such information could frustrate or thwart the investigation and impair the ability of the department to effectively and efficiently administer s. 501.173 or s. 501.1735, Florida Statutes. In addition, release of such information before completion of an active investigation could jeopardize the ongoing investigation.

(2) Release of information to which another public record exemption applies once an investigation is completed or ceases to be active would undo the specific statutory exemption protecting that information.

(3) An investigation of a violation of s. 501.173 or s. 501.1735, Florida Statutes, is likely to result in the gathering of sensitive personal information, including identification numbers, unique identifiers, professional or employment-related information, and personal financial information. Such information could be used for the purpose of identity theft. The release of such information could subject possible victims of data privacy violations to further harm.

(4) Notices received by the department and information received during an investigation of a violation of s. 501.173 or s. 501.1735, Florida Statutes, are likely to contain proprietary information. Such information, including trade secrets, derives independent, economic value, actual, or potential, from being generally unknown to, and not readily ascertainable by, other persons who might obtain economic value from its disclosure or use. Allowing public access to proprietary information, including a trade secret, through a public records request could destroy the value of the proprietary information and cause a financial loss to the controller, processor, or third party submitting the information. Release of such information could give business competitors an unfair advantage and weaken the position of the entity supplying the proprietary information in the marketplace.

(5) Information received by the department may contain a computer forensic report or information that could reveal weaknesses in the data security of a controller, processor, or third party. The release of this information could result in the identification of vulnerabilities in the cybersecurity system of the controller, processor, or third party and be used to harm the controller, processor, or third party and clients.

(6) The harm that may result from the release of information received by the department pursuant to a notification or investigation by the department or a law enforcement agency of a violation of s. 501.173 or s. 501.1735, Florida
