I'm not sure how to explain this, but when there is market volatility + inexperienced investors that can spell trouble. We'd hate to have someone blow their life savings on GameStop and AMC due to the hype. God forbid they do that and then harm themselves

I am interested to hear more about the rationale beyond 'market volatility' and how this decision aligns with our mission. I don't believe we should act as the arbiter of the free market over exchanges and regulators. Feels like we have sold out the retail investor and It is playing out very poorly from a reputational standpoint. https://twitter.com/search?q=%22Free%20Market%22&src=trend_click&vertical=trends
