All Comments:

Paul Avelar, INSTITUTE FOR JUSTICE AZ CHAPTER, Self: This is a bipartisan reform because the sale of homemade food is already common in Arizona in so many communities. The AZ cottage food program has been a great success. Cottage food expansions have been safe and successful in several other states.; Char Ugol M.Ed, Self: With last year's Veto of the cottage food bill, the bakery we ran with our autistic son went out of business. We need more opportunities to employ adults with autism, and this Bill HB2042 creates that potential. Thank you; Mary Evelyn Simpson, Self: YavGOP PC. It was rreiculous that this bill did not get signed last year.It had wide bipartisna support until politics got in the way; Dwight Kadar, Self: Allow Arizonans to sell certain home cooked foods.; Ute Edge, Self: KEEP POLITICS OUT OF HOMEBAKED COOKIE SALES; Linda Jorgensen, Self: Why should we penalize these small businesses? They are our lifeblood!; Bill Brown, Self: Everyone should have the freedom to make and sell tamales; Charmaine Roth, Self: I STRONGLY SUPPORT THIS!; Allen Skillicorn - Personal Position , Self: Let responsible people legally work for themselves.; Darla Gonzalez, Self: Protect home businesses! Free enterprise and competition is good for customers and good for businesses! Last year, the "Tamale" bill was vetoed last year by Hobbs! This is a pro business bill!; Randy Brown, Self: Stop legalized discrimination under the guise of public health/safety. Requiring a "commercial" kitchen does nothing but lock out the poor from starting a small business. Drown potential competition in red tape! Protect the BIG BOYS!; Sydney Brown, Self: Requiring a "commercial" kitchen does nothing but lock out the disadvantaged from starting a small business.; LouAnn Sedgwick, Self: I am a PC & State Committee member. We should be supporting small businesses, not punishing them.; Michal Joyner, Self: I love tamales. Please vote yes.; April Smith, Self: Stop the attacks on the honest working individuals who are trying to support themselves against this horrible inflation that policies brought about by the Dems bring!; Sue Unverricht, Self: I support mom & pop businesses; Charmon Puhlmann, Self: Precinct Captain, State Committee Woman, AZ Woman's Coalition, AZ Grizzly Grammies; Shawn Smith, Self: Stop punishing those who are trying to make a living in this high inflation time courtesy of policies brought by Democrats; James L Simpson, Self: This shouldl be supported. I supported it last year and find it disgusting that Hobbs vetoed it.; Indy Rebhun, Self: Freedom of commerce. If Katie Hobbs is against it, it is good.; Peter Asencio, Self: I am a PC Captain; Maria Lopez, Self: As a PC (LD16- Pima), I support this bill that allows individual citizens the right to pursue food sales from their homes.; Bonnie Davidson, Self: I am all for home business's and this bill restores the ability to sell home cooked food.; Kathryn Farkas, Self: This should be supported. I supported it last year and do not understand Hobb's veto.; Janis Schmidt, Self: This bill would help small business start-ups and encourage entrepreneurship which is really needed after so many small businesses were destroyed during the Covid lockdowns.; Judy Smith, Self: Protect home businesses. People should have the freedom to exercise their initiative to make money from home.; Dennis Liles, Self: Tamales Yes! Hobbs, NO!; Mary Jamsa, Self: This bill protects home businesses. I support this bill.; deana corsa, Self: Deana Corsa PC Yavapai county; Roy Scott Lassell, Self: I fully support.; Doris Mills, Self: LD3 PC and SPC; Michael Mote, Self: As a former restaurant owner, I was appalled that Gov Hobbs vetoed the "tamale bill". It's time to reverse her veto and deregulate the sale of home cooked foods.; Irene Lavor, Self: PC in LD17.; Joelene Williamson, Self: Everyone is for this bill except Gov. Hobbs. She shouldn't get to decide--the consumer should. I support this bill; robert wolk, Self: It is the right thing to do for all Arizonians.; Gary Zimmerman, Self: Supports American free enterprise.; Kathleen Liles, Self: Protect home businesses! Last year, Governor Hobbs vetoed what became known as the tamale" bill. This deregulation bill allows Arizonans to sell certain home cooked foods, like tamales.; Michael Jones, Self: I am for this bill on cottage food. Precinct Committeeman.; Cindi Hoffman, Self: I choose to support home businesses. I was unhappy Governor Hobbs vetoed the Tamale bill. This takes away the potential for creativity and entrepreneurship.; Don Hayles, Self: For!; Barbara Scott, Self: Good upgrade on this bill.; James Roth, Self: I am an AZ citizen and PC and support this bill. It allows more freedom for small enterpenuers and less government regulation. Vote Yes in support of this bill.; Steven Ugol, Self: Thank you for considering this bill

All Comments:

Jose Borrajero, Self: Funding bond/override campaigns and profiting from the results is a very clear case of conflict of interest and should be prohibited; Jere Fredenburgh, Self: common sense.; Christine Maceri Genge, Self: NO CONFLICT OF INTEREST i.e. buying of contracts.; Stephen Harris, Self: This bill prohibits an obvious conflict of interest.; Bridget Nelke, Self: agree, bill that prohibits an obvious conflict of interest from the private sector funding for the bond budget campaigning; Allen Skillicorn - Personal Position , Self: Passing tax hikes is a clear conflict of interest.; Charles Bell, Self: Conflict of interest; James McFadzean, Self: Bill prohibits an obvious conflict of interest issue.; James L Simpson, Self: Clearly a conflict of interest and should bestopped; Mary Evelyn Simpson, Self: YavGOP PC, 30 yr resident. This eliminates an obvious conflict of interest; Peter Asencio, Self: I am a pc; Stuart Scurti, Self: Please support this bill. The wolf guarding the hen house never works out for the hens. This is an obvious conflict of interest the legislature needs to fix.; Roy Scott Lassell, Self: I support.; Michael Mote, Self: I support this bill which helps keep government from conspiring with its contractors.; Irene Lavor, Self: PC in LD17.; Joelene Williamson, Self: I support this bill, it eliminates a corrupting conflict of interest; Gary Zimmerman, Self: Important for government honesty and transparency.; Kathleen Liles, Self: This bill prohibits an obvious conflict of interest. A contractor that donates to a PAC that supports a bond or override should not be eligible to bid on a contract they supported.; Michael Jones, Self: I am for not allowing contributor to bid on contracts. Precinct Committeeman.; George Momper, Self: The impropriety of allowing bidders on school contracts to heavily finance school district bond and override campaigns is outrageous! This is Pay-toPlay at its most obvious . It is a revolving door of potential corruption during the bidding process.; Don Hayles, Self: For!; Valerie Williamson, Self: What a great idea! Let's vote yes on this!; Mayor Ginny Dickey, Self: As Mayor of Fountain Hills, I join the League in opposition to 2088.; kathleen mayer, Self: fabricated concerns over conflicts of interest fuel this effort to suppress the free speech of contracting businesses. This is just an effort to undercut schools and municipalities from funding opportunities; Denise Link, PhD, WHNP, Self: Adversely impacts competitive contract bidding to the detriment of taxpayers. A COI declaration should be sufficient oversight of funding decisions without an outright ban on who can bid.; Peggie Jo Vincent, Self: This bill would limit access to needed funds by school districts.; Helen Kim, Self: This would negatively impact our already underfunded schools, and just doesn't seem a big conflict of interest or financially unethical to me; there are other more pressing and glaring areas of financial conflicts of interest needing to be addressed.; Catherine Sigmon, Self: Bonds & overrides are critical to funding schools since the legislature refuses to increase funding. Reaching into the process with this prohibition would cripple bonds & overrides (probably as intended).; Barbara Oliver, Self: Why, oh why, waste time with a bill that failed to pass last year?; Christine Whitley, Self: There is a theme here. This legislature's goal is to limit funding for the good of Arizonan's in anyway possible. See SB1011. The legislature is there to problem solve how to finance community services not deny funding.; Eric Kadel, Self: If you want to stop contributions then fund education 100% will all its' mandates.; Rivko Knox, Self: Why prohibit anyone who contributes to a bond/override campaign from bidding on a resulting contract? This could limit competition & increase prices for school districts.; Nelson Morgan, Self: Let's not make bond bills even harder to pass.; Jennifer Dawson, Self: Punitive: it would dramatically limit funding abilities for bonds and overrides, which many school districts rely on to meet their basic needs because the state has neglected its duty to adequately fund them.; Sarah Bihms LD29, Self: Oppose HB2088. It hinders funding for schools when state funding is already insufficient; Penny Boone, Self: This bill would dramatically limit funding abilities for bonds & overrides. Many school districts rely on this to meet basic needs because the state has neglected its duty to adequately fund schools.; Joseph Bihms LD29, Self: Oppose HB2088 to protect the funding options for AZ schools' essential needs and infrastructure.; Dawn Norton LD29, Self: Oppose HB2088: Restricts bond campaign contributors, risking funding for essential school needs; Connie Cockrell, Self: No need to shoot ourselves in the foot. No!; Mary Nelson, Self: Red tape overload; Angela J. Miller, Self: Since the state underfunds public schools bonds and override are needed. Limits schools ability to pass bonds and overrides, which is detrimental to students, property values, and communities.; Lisa Maczura, Self: Stop starving funding sources for public schools when the legislature seems unwilling to fund them properly through normal legislative channels. You can complain after you've fulfilled your responsibilities to public schools, not before.; Kirstin Woodburne, Self: This bill would limit the ability of school districts to get bonds and overrides, which they need since the legislature has never fully funded schools.; JOHN FIENE, Self: A loser last session, it should be DOA this session. Restricting commerce...not exactly a Republican ideal. LD1 voter.; Karolyn Switzer, Self: Anything that limits the use of bonds and overrides by our schools needs to be avoided. Let them do business as necessary, especially since the state has woefully underfunded our schools.; Michael Levine, Self: This bill would dramatically limit funding abilities for bonds and overrides, which many school districts rely on to meet their basic needs because the state has neglected its duty to adequately fund them.; Jeannine Reno, Self: This RE-RUN bill would dramatically limit funding abilities for bonds & overrides, which many school districts rely on to meet their basic needs because the state has neglected its duty to adequately fund them. Stop attacking public schools!; Roxanna Kearns, Self: Contributing to a bond or override campaign doesn't lead to a conflict of interest when bidding on a contract. Oppose this bill.; Mary-Jeanne Fincher, Self: Banning these contributions is unnecessary; they are required to be disclosed under campaign finance laws.; Jeffrey Fortney, Self: sad people working on bad bills for pathetic and false reasons.; Alicia Lucas, Self: This funding is vital to allow districts to pay for bond and overrides. Bonds and overrides are necessary for our schools since the state has so drastically underfunded our public schools.; Martha O'Connor, Self: Limits funding abilities for bonds and overrides, which many school districts rely on to meet their basic needs because the state has neglected its duty to adequately fund them.; Kathleen Martin, Self: You have already failed to fund public education in AZ. Now you want to limit school district funding even more?! Aren't AZ schools already low enough in the national ratings?!; Janie Smieszek, Self: This would limit funding abilities for bonds and overrides.; Katharine Donahue, Self: Remember "money is speech"; Sarah Seaver, Self: I do believe this bill would be struck down by courts as unconstitutional.; Judith Randall, Self: Schools need this funding; don't ban participation.; Margaret Tinsley, Self: This could be a devastating blow in small districts, making it harder to fund school projects. Please vote no on this.; Beth Ballmann, Self: Many school districts rely on bonds and overrides because the state has neglected its duty to adequately fund them. This bill would make it even harder for our communities to have the public schools our children deserve.; Paige Livingston, Self: Any disclosure of a conflict of interest is sufficient. Money will come from indirect sources, regardless. I'm not fond of blanket prohibitions that don't account for unintended consequences.; Sharon Falk, Self: This bill already failed last year. Many school districts rely on bonds and overrides to meet basic needs.; Gary Townsend, Self: Unnecessary.; Scott Grzybowski, Self: There is no distinction on 'what' support is - is it monetary or a simple statement supporting the bond? Also limits the pool of bidders.; Counilwoman Sharron Grzybowski, Self: On many projects, this restricts the already limited pool of bidders; Margaret Cordovano, Self: There is no reason to ban anyone who contributes to a bond or bond override campaign from bidding on a contract. Would greatly limit funding abilities for these bonds or overrides, which are necessary because of lack of state funding.

Allows for more "handyman" work to get done.; Kathleen Liles, Self: There should be no regulation on an entrepreneur's ability to work, charge with the customer will pay for, and do as much work as the customer authorizes.; Don Hayles, Self: For!

Oppose:

All Comments:

Dennis J Legere, ARIZONA HOMEOWNERS COALITION: This bill provides only marginal clarity to the existing law, as the affected homeowners are already protected from the entire section. Amending this legislation to apply the same concept to ARS 33-442 would add the true value and needed protection.

A rental agreement is the written agreement provided by the operator to the occupant that establishes the terms, conditions or rules concerning the leased space and its use and occupancy. Statute specifies the content of the rental agreement, including statements advising the occupant as follows:

1) the date rent is due and payable and the date that a late fee accrues;

6) information that must be disclosed by the occupant, including any lienholders or parties having an interest in stored property in the leased space (A.R.S. § 33-1703).

Statute outlines the process and procedures for the enforcement of liens when the occupant is more than 30 days in default. Before conducting the sale, the operator must provide prior notice and specific information regarding the sale to the occupant (A.R.S. § 33-1704).

Provisions

1. Permits a self-storage facility's rental agreement to limit the value of stored property, which is considered the maximum value of the unit. (Sec. 2)

HB 2042: food preparation; sale; cottage food
Sponsor: Representative Grantham, LD 14
Committee on Regulatory Affairs

Overview

Expands the foods that meet the exemption for cottage food products if requirements are met. Establishes program guidelines and requirements.

History

Statute requires the Director of the Department of Health Services (DHS) to adopt rules for the oversight of food and drinks sold at retail, including standards for producing, labeling, serving and transporting food products. State laws and rules also prescribe requirements for food preparers, including training courses, certification and registration with an online DHS registry. Rules prescribe sanitary conditions for warehouses, restaurants and other premises, including trucks or vehicles where food or drink is produced, stored, served or transported. Exempts food and drink served at noncommercial social events such as potlucks, home cooking schools and cottage food products. Cottage food products prepared in a home kitchen may be offered for commercial sale only if the products are not potentially hazardous and do not require time and temperature control for food safety among others (A.R.S. § 36-136).

Approved foods in the cottage food products category include cakes, cookies, breads, jams and jellies made from allowable fruits. Potentially hazardous foods fall under retail food regulatory oversight, which requires the products to be prepared in a licensed commercial kitchen. Federal law and regulations require inspection of poultry, poultry products, meat and meat products, but exempt products from producers that slaughter fewer than 1,000 poultry in a calendar year and operations conducted at retail stores and restaurants if requirements are met (9 CFR § 381.10).

A similar bill was introduced in the 56th Legislature, 1st Regular Session and was vetoed by the Governor (HB 2509 food preparation; sale; cottage food).

Provisions

Expansion & Definitions

1. Expands the foods that meet the cottage food product exemption to those that are potentially hazardous or require time or temperature control for safety if exempt under federal regulations. (Sec. 2)

   a) poultry, poultry byproducts or food products if the producer raised poultry pursuant to the 1,000-bird exemption; and
   b) poultry, poultry byproducts or food products and meat, meat byproducts and food products from an inspected source pursuant to federal law. (Sec. 2)

☐ Prop 105 (45 votes)	☐ Prop 108 (40 votes)	☐ Emergency (40 votes)	☐ Fiscal Note

3. Specifies that alcoholic beverages or foods that contain the product, unpasteurized milk, fish, meat and poultry and their byproducts do not meet the definition of cottage food product unless the sale is allowed by federal law as specified above. (Sec. 2)

4. Defines home kitchen to mean either:
   a) a residential home kitchen; or
   b) a kitchen located in a facility for individuals with developmental disabilities. (Sec. 2)

5. Stipulates that potentially hazardous means a cottage food product does not meet the Federal Food and Drug Administration (FDA) requirements. (Sec. 2)

   a) impede DHS from investigating foodborne illness;
   b) change the requirements for brand inspections, animal health inspections or food inspections required by state or federal law;

HB 2088: bond; override; contributions; contracts; prohibition
Sponsor: Representative Hendrix, LD 14
Committee on Regulatory Affairs

Overview

Prohibits an entity, that makes certain contributions promoting the issuance of a bond or passage of a budget override, from bidding on any subsequent contracts.

History

Municipalities, counties, school districts and other local governments may issue bonds to finance the cost of certain capital projects like building schools and highways. A bond is a debt security in which the purchaser acts as a money lender to the bond issuer in exchange for regular interest payments. A municipality or county must submit the question of whether to issue a bond to the qualified electors of that jurisdiction and disclose certain statutorily required information such as the purpose and maximum amount of the proposed bonds. Upon approval by the voters, bonds are repaid by the jurisdiction with interest using property tax monies (A.R.S. §§ 9-524, 11-264.01, US SEC).

Budget overrides also require approval by the voters and are similarly funded by local property taxes. While statute limits school district spending, upon approval by the qualified electors a school district may increase their budget by up to 15%. State and local governments are prohibited from using public resources to influence the outcome of bond and budget override elections and can be held civilly liable in specified circumstances (A.R.S. §§ 15-481, 16-192).

Provisions

1. Excludes entities that make contributions promoting the issuance of county or municipal bonds or the passage of budget overrides from bidding on any resulting contracts. (Sec. 1, 2)
