critical funding will allow the Treasury Secretary to provide loans and loan guarantees to businesses of all sizes.

Of that $500 billion, $454 billion assists the Treasury Department and Federal Reserve in loan facilities and programs to help distressed businesses. This funding has the potential to unleash more than $4 trillion in lending to businesses of all sizes, consumers, local governments, and money market funds.

We know Americans can't wait for this relief. I'm glad the CARES Act is soon headed to the President's desk for his signature and to the aid of families across our country.

CELEBRATING THE LIFE OF EMILY HARRIS-ESCAMILLA

HON. DAN NEWHOUSE

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, April 3, 2020

Mr. NEWHOUSE. Madam Speaker, Emily Harris-Escamilla was a shining light throughout her community of Selah, Washington. Her smile would illuminate rooms, and she was a bright and graceful soul who nobody could forget.

To the people of Selah, Emily was a loving mother, daughter, friend, and coach. Tragically, she was taken from her family and loved ones as a victim of domestic violence.

However, her community has chosen not to let this tragedy overshadow and darken their memories of Emily. Shortly following the news of her death, over 100 members of the community gathered at a local park to hold a candle light vigil to honor her and provide comfort and support to those affected by her death.

Perry Technical Institute, a local college, established a scholarship in her name, which will continue Emily's legacy and passion for helping others.

In lieu of flowers, her family requested that donations be made to the YWCA to assist those fleeing domestic violence. Emily's love and appreciation for her friends and family and her desire to help others continues to live on, with people urging each other to ''live like Emily''.

I urge my colleagues to send their prayers to the Harris family and may we all seek to ''live like Emily''.

HONORING THE HEROIC LIFE OF GENERAL LE MINH DAO

HON. HARLEY ROUDA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Mr. ROUDA. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the heroic life of General Le Minh Dao, who passed away on March 19, 2020. General Dao spent his 87 years of life fighting for freedom and serving his community.

Born in 1933 in Sai Gon, Vietnam, Le Minh Dao would go on to serve in the Army of the Republic of Vietnam during the Vietnam War. Outnumbered and fighting against the odds, General Dao made a heroic stand in what is now known as the Battle of Xuan Loc, the last major struggle before Saigon's fall on April 30, 1975. For 13 days, the General and his men of the 18th division of the ARVN withstood an unrelenting barrage from Communist forces. The battle would be a showcase of General Dao's military brilliance and a testament to his unimpeachable courage.

Due to his passionate and inspirational leadership, General Dao will forever be recognized as a hero, both within the Vietnamese community and to all of us who hold the ideals of freedom and democracy above all else.

I ask that all Members join me in honoring the extraordinary life of General Le Minh Dao.
