Hon. NANCY PELOSI,
Speaker, U.S. House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MADAM SPEAKER: By direction of the House Committee on Appropriations, I submit herewith the committee's report on the revised suballocation of the committee's allocations for fiscal year 2022.

The suballocations contained in this report revise the suballocations set forth in House Report 117–78 and are consistent with the levels contained in the "Allocation of Spending Authority to the House Committee on Appropriations" printed in the Congressional Record by the chair of the House Committee on the Budget on June 24, 2021, pursuant to House Resolution 467 (117th Congress) and the Congressional Budget Act of 1974.

The revised suballocations also incorporate anticipated adjustments to the House Committee on Appropriations' 302(a) allocations for amounts provided for fiscal year 2022 in legislation that has been ordered reported by the House Committee on Appropriations, and for which the chair of the House Committee on the Budget may make corresponding adjustments pursuant to House Resolution 467 (117th Congress) and the Congressional Budget Act of 1974.

Sincerely,

ROSA L. DELAURO,
Chair.

Such amounts do not count against the committee's allocations in the House of Representatives, consistent with the Congressional Budget Act of 1974.

MINORITY VIEWS

The Fiscal Year 2022 (FY22) 302(b) revised suballocations adopted by the House Appropriations Committee on July 16, 2021, included no changes to the base budget authority levels contained in the initial allocations adopted on June 29, 2021.

Republican Members of the Committee have been unified in opposing these discretionary spending levels, which are the highest in our nation's history. They provide a nearly 17% increase in non-defense programs while failing to provide baseline funding levels for our national defense. Since the initial allocations were adopted two weeks ago, new data from the Congressional Budget Office shows that the defense funding levels adopted by the Majority party are even further below the baseline than previously estimated, due to increasing inflation. Inflationary increases are a predictable consequence of the unprecedented levels of mandatory and discretionary spending enacted by and proposed by the Majority party.

The revised allocations, like the initial allocations, were adopted without Republican support. Republican Members of the Committee cannot support these ill-advised funding proposals and will continue to advocate for bills that invest responsibly in our nation's defense and other critical programs.

KAY GRANGER.
